Charter Group Action

Council Like City's Present One Voted

A legislative body essentially almost always in the hands of one the same as Marion's present City Council will be retained in what ever form of government the City Charter Commission recommends for Marion, commission members decided last night.

The group unanimously voted to incorporate in its recommended form of government a nine-member council, with members to be elected as they are now—three at large and one each from the city's six wards.

Partisan Balloting Favored

The group also voted to retain partisan balloting, but reached no decision on the matter of a council president, pending decision on a specific form of city government.

The commission, elected in November, will submit its recommendations to the electorate for approval next fall.

The question on the makeup of a legislative body was taken with very little debate over the matter. Most of the members felt the present plan of electing councilmen would be the best possible.

Two Oppose Party Tickets

Arousing more debate, and failing to obtain a unanimous vote, was the question of partisan or non-partisan ballots. After discussion, the group voted 10 to 2 in favor of retaining the partisan ticket as it is now used, to select all elected officials.

Commission member Max Birnbaum raised the biggest objection to the retention of the partisan ballot when he pointed out that control of the city government is

Dodgers Name Walter Alston New Manager

BROOKLYN (AP)—Walter Alston, manager of the Montreal Royals of the International League, was appointed manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

Alston, 42, succeeds Chuck Dressen, who surprised the baseball world Oct. 14 by resigning shortly after he had piloted the Dodgers to a second National League pennant in a row. Dressen, who quit after the Brooklyn club rejected his demand for a two or three year contract, now is manager and part owner of the Oakland Pacific League club.

The new Dodgers manager, a native of Hamilton, Ohio, played only one major league game during his career. That was at first base for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1936.

His 1953 Montreal team finished second to Rochester, but the Royals won the playoffs, then defeated the Kansas City Blues, four games to one, in the Little World Series.

The new contract was for one year, a Dodger policy.

Adlai Blasts GOP Tactics In Spy Probe

Charges 'Indictment By Suspicion' in Talk To Georgia Legislature

ATLANTA (AP)—Former Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, titular head of the Democratic party, today blasted the "Republican program" of "indictment by suspicion, or conviction by association."

"Gen. Eisenhower promised the people a new morality, but his lieutenants have chosen their weapons without regard for their effect," Stevenson declared. "They have taken McCarthyism away from McCarthy. What an end to the great crusade!"

"But for the love of heaven," he pleaded, "let us do it with dignity, objectivity and justice, and with some better motive than partisan strife that can only seriously weaken the United States."

"No one wins this way. Suspicion of past Democratic mistakes is balanced by suspicion of present Republican motives. The people are confused, confidence in both parties undermined, the nation injured."

"The issue isn't which party detests communism most, but how to deal with the serious problem of espionage in our government. And it won't be resolved to the nation's advantage by shouting matches and degrading circuses of political profit."

Stevenson referred to former President Truman as the individual "who has done more than any living man to check the forward thrust of communism," and he rapped those whose "words imply disloyalty."

Applauding the "enormously improved" position of minority groups, particularly the Negro, he SWITCH FROM WHITE TO GLASSER. Switching the spotlight from Harry Dexter White, Jenner subcommittee counsel Robert Morris (extreme left) tells newsmen the Truman administration received more than a dozen reports on alleged Red Harold Glasser when he was chosen as an adviser to Gen. George C. Marshall, then secretary of state, at the 1947 Moscow meeting of foreign ministers. The committee has said that Glasser was identified by Whittaker Chambers as a member of the Communist espionage conspiracy. Committee member Senator John Butler (R), Maryland (second from left), listens to Morris.

McCarthy To Reply To Truman's Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators today pondered FBI summaries of alleged Soviet espionage while, in an offshoot to the Harry Dexter White case, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) prepared a radio-TV reply to former President Truman's blast at "McCarthyism."

New fuel was added to the case already smoking with political charges and countercharges, when:

Charge 'Blackmail'

1. A Canadian member of Parliament charged in the House of Commons yesterday that "McCarthyites" in the United States are trying to "blackmail" Canada into releasing Igor Gouzenko for questioning.

2. The Senate internal security subcommittee disclosed yesterday that the White House sought and got FBI data on Harold E. Glasser, an alleged Soviet spy, a month before Glasser's 1946 promotion in the Treasury Department.

The charge of blackmail came from David Croil, a member of the Liberal party, which dominates the Canadian government. He said President Eisenhower should repudiate what he described as attacks on Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson.

Pearson Mentioned

Croil charged, as did the Toronto Star in an article yesterday, that Pearson may be named by the Senate subcommittee as one of

Allies Trying To Win Back 351 Captives

22 Americans Listed In Group Scheduled To Be Interviewed

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Allies revealed today they are making final preparations for efforts to win back 22 Americans, 1 Briton and 328 South Koreans who have refused to come home.

The U. N. Command disclosed it has been sparring for two weeks with the Korean war prisoner repatriation commission over how many Allied interviewers will be permitted to talk with the prisoners.

The Allies have requested a total of 15-5 Americans, 5 Britons and 5 South Koreans.

Limit of 5 Set

The commission has set a limit of five.

Meanwhile, Allied and Red negotiators meeting nearby on arrangements for a Korean peace conference discussed sites, but got nowhere again.

The first official indication that the UNC is about ready to start interviewing the reluctant allied POWs came with the release of two letters to the repatriation commission and one reply.

The Allies have little time left—the 90-day interview period is scheduled to end Dec. 3.

There were unofficial indications that the UNC also is working behind the scenes to smooth out all preparations before the explanations begin—presumably to avoid the hysterical scenes which greeted Communist efforts to get their former soldiers to come back.

One States Case

In a letter to the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission dated Nov. 18, the UNC asked the commission to confirm its belief the Allies would be allowed to send five South Koreans, five Americans and five British explainers to the explanation site simultaneously.

The U. N. based its case on this reasoning:

1. The armistice agreement gives the "nation to which the POW belong" the right to send explainers.

2. The rules say the number of "such" explainers shall be not less than five nor more than seven per 1,000 POWs.

3. Prisoners belong to individual nations—the Republic of Korea, the United States and Great Britain—and not to the United Nations as a military command.

4. Only representatives of the individual nations can be explainers.

Council Okays Contract for Storing Autos

Illegally Parked Cars Will Be Impounded At Owners' Expense

A step toward putting some teeth in an automobile impounding ordinance was taken by Marion City Council at its meeting last night.

Council authorized Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest to enter into a contract with Short-Ford, Inc. to provide an impounding garage to store illegally parked cars.

This ordinance, unanimously approved, in effect means the illegally parked cars may be ordered towed away by city police at the owner's expense.

Will Draw Up Contract

City Solicitor George A. Piacentino explained that passage of the ordinance permits him to draw up the contract between the city and Short-Ford, Inc. for towing and storage of impounded cars. Following signing of the contract, the impounding ordinance must be advertised for two weeks after which it may become effective, he added.

Under terms of the ordinance adopted last night the rate to be charged is $4 for towing of each motor vehicle. Included in this $4 is the cost of storage of the motor vehicle for one day. For each day of storage after the first day an additional charge of $1 will be made. The ordinance also called for payment of $3.50 an hour by owners of cars involved in a collision requiring the cleaning of the street.

Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest said payment of the street-

Brands Red Proposals as Propaganda

Long List of Kremlin's False Moves Reviewed By Chief U.S. Delegate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States called on the United Nations today to junk each and every part of Russia's 1953-model "peace plan."

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the 60-nation political committee: "The resolutions now on the books deal adequately with the subject. The only thing we still require is for the Soviet Union to quit discrediting them."

Vishinsky's Demands

The Kremlin, through its Chief Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, has asked the U. N. to ban the atomic and hydrogen bombs unconditionally; cut the armed forces of the big powers by a flat one-third; forbid foreign bases in other countries; and condemn Western anti-Communist propaganda as war-mongering.

These demands have been defeated, in one form or another, over and over in the Assembly and its committees. The Soviets have revived them each succeeding year.

Instead, the U. N. has adopted Western proposals for international control of nuclear weapons under stringent safeguards as the culmination of a disarmament program which would include cuts in the armed forces of the big powers. The Assembly has refused to get into the bases question and has condemned warmongering propaganda impartially without regard to its origin.

'Devil Can Quote Scripture'

Lodge said Russian charges that the United States was responsible for present world tension were "obviously written by professional communist axe-grinders" and reminded him of the old proverb that the devil can quote scripture.

"It is well to look at the record regarding this subject," Lodge declared.

He then detailed efforts of the United States and its Allies to reach agreement with Russia on the reunification of Germany and said the West had finally "reluctantly concluded that the Soviet Union did not want to enter into negotiations which might have positive results." Nevertheless, Lodge said, the West still leaves the door open.

Cites Examples

As for propaganda, Lodge gave example after example of what he called Soviet moves in entertainment, schooling and newspapers to make the Russians hate the American people.

He said U. S. citizens were free to read anything they liked about Russia, but added:

"The past 10 years have aroused the fears of many Americans that Soviet imperialism endangers their safety and their way of life. It is only natural that most Americans and the bulk of the press should view the Soviet Union with something less than affection, given the fact that it is plotting our destruction."

Power Shovel Co. Pays First Dividend in Years

Marion Power Shovel Company directors today declared a common stock dividend of 30 cents per share, payable Feb. 1, 1954, to holders of record as of Jan. 20, 1954.

It is the first dividend for holders of common shares since Jan. 2, 1929.

The company's directors cleared the way for its first common stock dividend in 25 years last June 30 by declaring a $77 per share dividend on the preferred stock, eliminating the last of the arrearages. Regular quarterly dividends of $1.75 per share since that time, including one declared at Tuesday's meeting, have kept preferred stock payments on a current basis.

THE PREFERRED stock is roughly the equivalent of a first mortgage on the company's assets. No common stock dividend

Golf, Turkey in Georgia Is Holiday Menu for Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, starting a Thanksgiving holiday today, says no one can "assassinate" his character from behind without suffering the penalties an outraged citizenry will impose.

"That was the code of the Old West where he grew up and it is a code Americans still cherish, the President declared last night in accepting the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League's annual Democratic Legacy Award.

Golf and Turkey

The presidential party took off at 9 a. m. EST by plane for Augusta, Ga. The Eisenhowers will have a Thanksgiving Day turkey dinner with the family.

He will return to Washington Sunday.

The Eisenhowers scheduled a stop en route at Ft. Benning, Ga., to pick up their daughter-in-law,

Mrs. John Eisenhower, and their three grandchildren. Their son, an Army major stationed at Ft. Benning, will join the family at the Augusta National Golf Club later in the week.

A new white brick cottage—situated near the club's 10th tee—was ready for the Eisenhowers. It was built by fellow club members for the President's use.

Praised for Leadership

Last night at the Mayflower Hotel the President received a standing ovation when Henry E. Schultz, chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, a Jewish service organization, handed him the league's silver medallion award.

Schultz praised Eisenhower for "leadership in the great crusade to bring about the elimination of planned again this year. Nine churches have agreed to make floats and we are busy preparing a special float to carry you. You will be escorted by the High School Band and members of the Marion Police Department.

As you probably know, the Christmas Pageant starts this year at 1 p.m. on Saturday. We hope you will not have any trouble getting here because of the lack of snow. We may have some yet before you leave the North Pole.

We have arranged a pretty big schedule for you this year. We hope you can find enough time to do everything we planned for you.

After the parade Saturday, you will be escorted to your headquarters on the Courthouse lawn. We think all the children will get a chance to talk to you if you are there every day except Sunday from 1 p.m. to 4:30.

To give some of the other children an opportunity to let you know what they want, we would like to have you be around every Wednesday and Saturday night, and the nights of the Monday and Tuesday just before Christmas. We think if you were there from 7 p.m. to 8:30, it would give everyone a chance to meet you.

We also have some trips to Marion stores and some of the schools lined up for you. If you can make all these dates, we will be very grateful to you, as will all the children.

Balked by Refusal To Talk

Brownell Seeking Way To Open Up Witnesses

WASHINGTON (U) — Atty. Gen. Brownell obviously hopes that by getting around the Fifth Amendment the government will have better luck unmasking Communists and prosecuting alleged Soviet spies.

He's asking Congress for a law promising some witnesses in certain cases they will never be prosecuted in federal court for any federal crime they confess to congressional committees or grand juries.

This is his attempt to make witnesses talk, whether they want to or not. For, once promised immunity against prosecution under Brownell's proposal, they could be jailed for contempt if they still refused to open up.

The plan would work, of course, only with witnesses who thought silence—at the price of jail for contempt—was too expensive. It couldn't budge a man who preferred jail to talking.

And even though a witness was promised immunity from trial in federal court for a federal crime, if in his testimony he admitted violating a state law he could later be prosecuted in a state court.

This is the background:

"The government and congressional committees have been stymied in their efforts to dig into communism and alleged spy rings by a parade of men and women who have taken refuge behind the Constitution's Fifth Amendment.

That amendment says no witness in a criminal case can be compelled to give evidence against himself, that is, saying anything which might land him in jail. So many suspected persons have responded to committee questions with:

"I invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to answer on the grounds that anything I say might tend to incriminate me."

A person using this excuse for refusing to answer questions can't be jailed for contempt.

Long ago, realizing the Fifth Amendment could be used to frustrate investigations, Congress passed a law which said: No witness before a committee can ever be prosecuted in federal court for what he says.

There was a gimmick His own words could never be used against him. But the government could use his words as leads to evidence and perhaps witnesses against him and so bring him to trial.

But, since it's no crime under federal law to be a Communist, how can a Communist or a person accused of being a Communist claim anything he says may incriminate him?

There is a law, passed in 1940 and called the Smith Act, which doesn't mention Communists at all but simply says people can be jailed for advocating or conspiring for overthrow of the government.

Many Communist leaders have been successfully prosecuted by the government under the Smith Act, not on a charge of being Communists but on a charge that, being Communists, they were in conspiracy against the government.

So any Communist before a congressional committee can argue—and Congress won't cite him for contempt for doing it—that once he starts talking about himself he may be talking himself behind bars.

Under the law Brownell wants Congress to pass in 1954 the attorney general could promise certain witnesses—he'd pick them—that they could never be tried in federal court for any federal crime they admitted while testifying.

This would remove that gimmick in the present law under which the government could start with a witness' admissions to find evidence on which to try him.

With such a law, Brownell seems to think, he might be able to get some spy suspects to talk about the ringleaders and so start them on the way to trial, which is something he hasn't been able to do yet.

If Congress passed such a law, the Supreme Court in the end would probably decide whether it was constitutional or actually contrary to the Fifth Amendment.

The test would come as soon as a witness refused to say anything despite immunity, was sentenced to jail for contempt and appealed to the high court with this argument:

He was deprived of his Fifth Amendment right to refuse to incriminate himself because, with the threat of jail for contempt if he said nothing, he was actually incriminating himself by silence.

Broken 'Eye' Key Plagues Columnist

NEW YORK (U)—Me have a great problem, me has.

The eye key on my typewriter is broken.

Thys may seem no great tragedy to you, but to me yt ys utter desolashun.

A good housewife can get her laundry done even though her washboard breaks yn half. A bank robber, by usng a gruff manner, may go on and hold up a bank even though he dyscover, at the last moment, he has left hys pistol at home yn a fyt of absent-myndedness. A tenor, strycken wyth laryngyts at the top note of hys song, can at least fynysh yt by humming tenderly. Eye myself would just as soon be dyd, as eye can understand an opera thats hummed better than one that ys sung.

But a columnist wyth a brken eye key on hys typewriter ys yn a far more ptyable plight than a litle sparrow wyth arthryts in both wngs. The eye key ys more yndispensable to hym than hys own mynd. He becomes lyke a plate of ham and eggs on whych there ys no ham. He ys tongue-tied.

Me yntended today to wryte an article on the vrytue of never losing one's temper. Eye was goyng to prayse the man who meets all trouble wyth a smyle. . . smyle. . . smyle. But now my heart ys no longer yn thys subject. Any man who can smyle when the eye key on hys typewriter is broken would break out laughing at hys own funeral, and thus scandalize the mynyster.

No, now eye wysh eye was a Spanyard lyke a frend of myne once met yn Spane. The Spanys are sayd by all travelers to be the most artful oad utters yn the cyvylized world. They begyn young and study hard all theyr lyfe long.

Thys partycular Spanyard was myddle-aged and at the peak of hys cursyng power. He was a chauffeur and he was dryvng my freynd across Spane when he had a flat tyre.

The Spanyard was very vexed. Flat tyres annoy Spanyards more than they do Amerycans, because you get more flat tyres yn Spane because the roads are bad. Thys Spanyard got out hys tools to fyx the culprt tre. But before reparyng yt, he spoke to yt as yt were a human beyng, as follows: "O, tyre—"

Then for fyfteen full mynutes he delyvered an eloquent hystory on the flat tyre yn Spane. He denounced them all Then he got down to the evyl nature of the partycular flat tyre before hym. He qyestioned yts ancestry and projected doubts about the charter of yts offspryng. He called yt by all the bad names ever known, and spontaneously yvented new and more terryble oaths upon the spot. "Eye was strck dumb by the pure poetcal magnyfycence of thys symple man's rage at an ynymamate object that had done hym wrong," my freynd recalled.

"When the Spanyard had fynally fynyshed, he bent down and fyxed the tyre, and we drove on, both refreshed."

Eye wysh eye was that sympl Spanyard.

"O eye key on my typewriter . . ." me would say, and then go on from there. But me am, helpless.

Even yt me knew Spanys—whych me don't—me could not tell thys typewriter what me really thnk of of yt untyl thys blasted eye key s reparyed.

A columnist wyth a broken eye key ys a lonely man wyth llytle left to say, so me wyll conclude wyth thys thought:

"Syience ys golden."

Record Set in Total Number of Arrests

With more than a month to go, Marion police over the weekend topped the total number of arrests booked for all of last year to set a new record.

At 9:47 p.m. Sunday night, city police had booked a total of 2,761 persons arrested by themselves, the state highway patrol and the Marion County sheriff's department.

This was 32 more than the total for last year when 2,729 persons were booked at the police station for various offenses.

This is the highest total of bookings in the history of the Marion police department, Police Chief Tom Coon reports.

Galion's First Fire Bell Is Descendant's Legacy

Special to The Star
GALION — The bell which became the first fire alarm to be sounded in Galion is the property of Franklin M. Berry. It became his prized possession when it was handed down to him from his great-great-grandfather, Matthew Michael Matthias.

The bell is brass with a wooden handle. It stands a little over 12 inches and at the bottom is six and one-half inches in diameter. Berry displayed the bell recently when Galion held its observance of Ohio's Sesquicentennial in connection with Galion's annual Mardi Gras.

THE STORY is that when the bell was rung for the first fire alarm in Galion, it was used then by either Mr. Matthias or one of his helpers at an inn known as the Franklin House and located about where the J. C. Penney Co. store now stands. The bell was rung to notify townspeople that a meal was ready to be served at the inn. One day, however, fire broke out in the vicinity of the inn. There was the usual panic and anxiety. Someone thought to ring the inn bell to get help to fight the fire.

The Matthias family had much to do with Galion's early history, and a brief sketch of some of their activities is timely with Ohio's review of events of 150 years.

The Matthew Michael Matthias family came from Stark County in 1837, (just six years after Galion was founded), to Crawford County, in a covered wagon. They settled on a farm about one mile northwest of Galion, then known as Knisely Springs.

IT WAS HERE that Harry Samuel Zigler Matthias was born in 1844. At the age of five, he was stricken with scarlet fever which left him without the use of his lower limbs. His father, Matthew, wanting the boy to have advantage of an education, came to Galion and bought the inn known as the Franklin House. Harry Matthias, when he grew to manhood, became the owner and editor of The Galion Weekly Sun Review, which later became The Galion Inquirer, Galion's present daily. This gave him the distinction of being the youngest editor in the state of Ohio.

'MIRACLE BOYS.' These four youngsters watching the "drumstick express" go by at pre-Thanksgiving party in New York, have all undergone a similar unique experience. Each has fallen out of a window from four to 13 floors above the ground. Left to right, are: Garn Anderson, 4, who fell five floors, Francis La Madrid, 2, who fell four floors; Marshall Harris, who toppled 13 floors, and Raymon Perez Jr., 2, a six-story lad.

Printer's ink became indelible in the family when Harry's daughter, Verna, married Berton Atherton Baker, at that time a member of The Cleveland Plain Dealer staff. Baker met Miss Verna Matthias when he came to Galion to talk with her father about establishing a daily in Galion. The Bakers were Mr. Berry's maternal grandparents, and being the last and only one of the generation, he became possessor of the bell.

Berry's mother, Mrs. Daisy Berry with whom he lives, and his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Bowers of Galion are the only descendants of Matthew Michael Matthias and his son, Harry, their grandfather now living in Galion.

Mt. Victory Residents Note 60th Anniversary

The 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Smiley of Mt. Victory will be observed on Thanksgiving Day with a family dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Smiley were married in Mt. Victory on Nov. 25, 1893, by Rev. William Phillips. Mrs. Smiley is the former Flora Eell.

The have lived their entire lives in the LaRue and Mt. Victory vicinity. Mr. Smiley is a retired farmer and school teacher and for 20 years was manager of the Mt. Victory service station.

They were the parents of four children, Miss Thelma Smiley of LaRue, Mrs. Virginia Allen of Columbus, Norman Smiley of Mt. Victory, and Robert Smiley, deceased. They have four grandchildren, Norman Edward and Bruce Smiley and Robert and Janice Evans of Columbus.

In 1840 there were about 675 American whale ships in the Pacific Ocean with about 15,000 crewmen aboard.

ARSONISTS SOUGHT

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Scioto County authorities are on the lookout for a possible arsonist whose targets are wooden bridges. Firemen who extinguished a blaze on a wooden bridge yesterday showed county officials a map they found near the fire. The map showed sketched of wooden bridges between Portsmouth and Wellston.

New School Song Sought by Council At Harding High

A contest to find a new alma mater song for Marion's new Harding High School opened today and is scheduled to close Jan. 5.

Anyone of the general public or student body is eligible to enter the contest, which is being sponsored by the Harding Student Council. Members of the council decided to change the school song to fit the environment of the new building. The council favors original music and words suitable to the school's surroundings. Entries may be turned in at the main office of the high school.

Two preliminary winners will be chosen by a group consisting of the Student Council, Louis G. Jones, vocal music supervisor, George Lane, assistant band director, and Homer Huffman, instrumental music supervisor. The final winner will be chosen by a general vote of the entire student body. A reward of appropriate recognition will be given the winner.

One alma mater song has already been submitted. Words were written by Miss Lucille Foreman, Harding teacher, and the lyrics by Richard Myers, former student and author of the Harding fight song.

Around Council's Table

One piece of legislation was turned down and seven others were adopted by Marion City Council at its meeting last night. In other action Council received two petitions calling for the closing of alleys, another for the installation of storm and sanitary sewers, and discussed other requests and items of business.

Pay Raise Defeated

An ordinance which would have called for raising the monthly salary of the deputy city auditor from $332.50 to $375 was turned down by a narrow margin following a 30-minute recessed meeting asked for by Fifth Ward Councilman Don Quaintance, chairman of the finance, ways and means, committee.

Following the closed discussion, a vote was taken on the ordinance and it lost 4-3. Voting for it were Harold Smith, First Ward; James C. Jenkins, Second Ward; and Robert G. Haldeman, at-large. Voting "no" were Louis Conkle, Fourth Ward; Don E. Quaintance, Fifth Ward; Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward; and Thomas H. Clark, at-large. Two other Councilmen, Herman Rinehart, Third Ward; and William Simmons, at-large, were absent from the meeting.

If the ordinance had passed it would have raised the salary of Floyd Schaffner, assistant city auditor to the new rate beginning Dec. 1.

New Light Authorized

An ordinance calling for the installation of a traffic light at S. State and E. Columbia Sts. was passed unanimously as emergency legislation.

Prior to passage, Conkle reported that Police Chief Tom Coon said this intersection is as much in need of a traffic light as any other intersection in the city. He pointed out to Council that even with passage of the ordinance, installation of the light would require some two or three months.

Ice Box Ordinance

An ordinance which would make it unlawful to keep abandoned ice boxes or refrigerators, with doors or door locks intact, accessible to children was given a second reading. No other action or discussion was given this proposed law.

Parking Restriction

An ordinance making it unlawful to park motor vehicles in alleys or private drives in such a way as to interfere with passage of fire fighting equipment thus creating a fire hazard was adopted unanimously. The ordinance actually is an amendment to an existing city law on general restrictions on parking. In answer to a question from Councilman Smith, Safety-Service Director Ralph Forest said he requested the legislation because of a recent incident in which fire trucks were unable to reach a fire quickly because of a car parked in an alley. He explained the amendment is not for the purpose of stopping all parking in alleys but only parking which creates a fire hazard. He said it would not restrict trucks from parking in alleys long enough to unload merchandise for business places.

Appropriation Okayed

An ordinance calling for additional appropriations amounting to $94,568 as adopted unanimously. Finance Committee Chairman Don Quaintance told Council his committee recommended adoption of the ordinance. He said the appropriations were all "ordinary transfers to take up the slack for the balance of the year."

The funds transfers were made from General Fund, $6,329.25; Park Fund, $500; Airport Fund, $500; Hospital Fund, $55,518.23; Garbage Fund, $11,201.23; Motor Vehicle Fund, $6,500; and Gasoline Tax Fund, $8,200.

Another ordinance approving transfer of funds within the Department of Health was also passed unanimously. This involved the transfer of funds of $325 from one classification to another in the department and called for no additional appropriation.

New Street Lights

A resolution approving installation of three 100-candle power street lights by the Ohio Edison Co. was approved unanimously. The new street lights are to be located at the corner of Underwood and Merkle Ave.; south end of Underwood Ave.; and on east side of Davids St. north of Congress St.

$20 Claim Approved

A claim of William B. Kelly for $20 for payment of a box of toys accidentally hauled off from the rear yard of his residence at 552 Pearl St. was approved. Kelly claimed that a city garbage and rubbish crew took the box from his rear yard. Councilman Haldeman reported there evidently was a mixup and that a substitute driver on the garbage route apparently did take the box of toys and dump them into the garbage truck. In previous discussions of the claim, it was questioned by some Councilmen whether the city sewers on Bryant St. from Fairview St. north of Hecker Ave.

Planning commission action approved was the granting of a permissive use to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Reece to operate a woodworking shop at 176 Glad St.

The request for a traffic light at Pearl and W. Columbia Sts. was reported by Councilman Haldeman. He said residents in the area had requested the traffic light. Mayor Robinson objected to the proposal and said there was no need for a light at the intersection. Police Chief Tom Coon reported there has been only one minor accident at the intersection since the installation of stop signs on all four corners recently. Last night's meeting opened with an invocation given by Rev. F. E. Shoup, pastor of the Prospect Street Methodist Church.

Sunken Spanish Treasure Chest Is Found by Floridan

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—William F. Sneed Jr., Lakeland hotel owner, is showing off a couple of coins which he says were among thousands in a chest he recovered from under the Suwannee River Saturday.

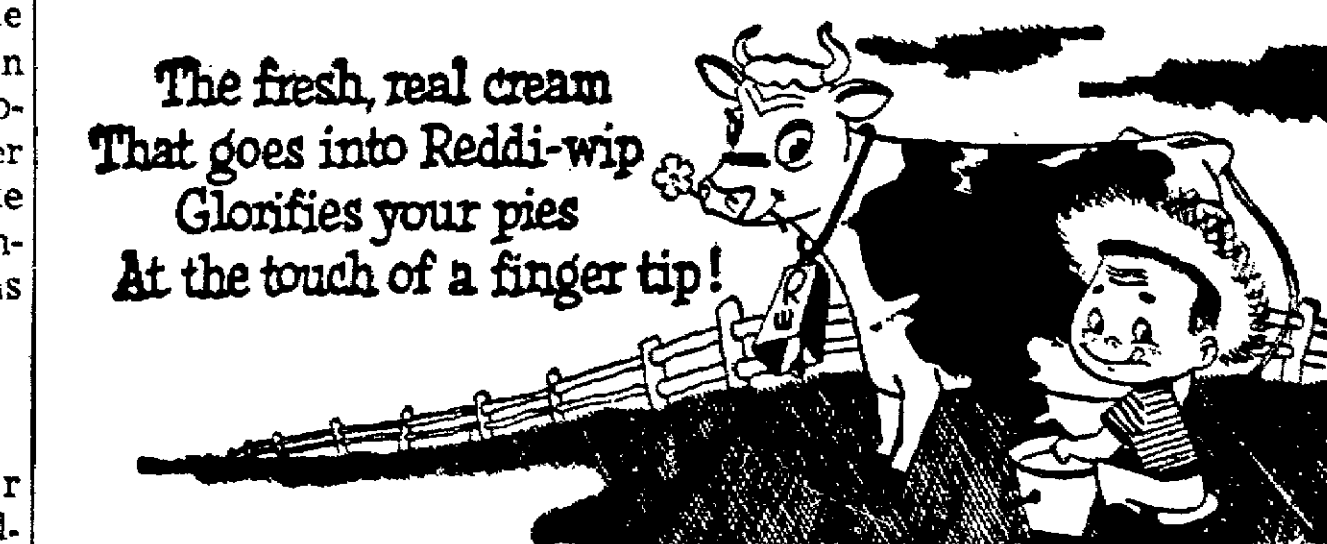

He said he found 4,500 Spanish gold doubloons worth $100 to $150 each and 3,500 silver pieces of eight worth $50 to $90 each. At the lower value he quoted, his treasure find would be worth $625,000. He said the chest also contained a silver cup, apparently of English origin.

He said he used electronic devices to locate the treasure under 16½ feet of water near the mouth of the Suwannee.

$10 Appropriation

An ordinance appropriating $10 from the General Fund to pay for membership of Police Chief Tom Coon in the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Inc., was approved unanimously. Only question on the measure was by Councilman Quaintance. He asked if it would be possible in the future for department heads to pay such small membership fees and other incidental costs of a like nature from their department incidental funds. Auditor Elmer Shaw said this was the plan which should be followed. No other action was taken on Quaintance's query.

Other Action

In other routine action at last night's meeting, Council received three petitions, approved a Planning Commission action, and heard a request for the installation of a traffic light at Pearl and W. Columbia Sts.

Two of the three petitions were requests for closing of alleys, one adjacent to properties in the 200 block on Fairview St. signed by 12 property owners; the other adjacent to the 900 block on Bryant St. signed by six property owners. Prelude

There was no excitement when the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee released its report on Soviet spy rings in the U.S. government last Aug. 24.

Press associations made little or nothing of the story. The report was lengthy and said what many citizens long had taken for granted—that there had been gross official neglect of Communist infiltration in Washington.

The main evidence in the report stemmed from testimony given by Elizabeth Bentley, a confessed member of the spy ring. She had named names—many names. The FBI had carried on intensive investigations of the people behind these names, but its findings were confidential.

The bulk of the report was comprised of evidence given in congressional hearings, the only way to reveal what is going on when either the executive department or the courts are interested in taking action.

From August until November, the names caused no great stir. Then, on Nov. 6, Atty. Gen. Brownell used one name to illustrate a point he was making in a speech before the Executive Club of Chicago. The name was Harry Dexter White.

Brownell said White had been advanced in government service after he was known to be a Communist spy.

That set off a sensation which rocked the country. Yet, the facts cited by Brownell had been contained months before in a report which got attention from relatively few persons.

There are dozens of names in the report. What will be the next sensation?

Perhaps it will be another detail of Miss Bentley's testimony. Before the Internal Security Subcommittee in May, 1952, she said this:

That of four Soviet espionage rings which she had known about in Washington, only two of them had been exposed up to that time. The third and fourth rings were still operating as far as she knew.

Shackles on FBI

By David Lawrence

Public Unaware of Difficulty in Convicting Spy

Some day, when the story of the scope of the Communist intrigue inside the United States government becomes so clear and simple to grasp that even those articulate critics who have failed to pay attention to the facts—poured out for several years in official documents—will no longer poo-poo the Communist menace, the tragic aspect of the Harry Dexter White episode will stand out in perspective as not an isolated case at all.

It is a matter of profound regret and sadness that some Americans—regarded by the public as spokesmen here and there for the Democratic and Republican parties—should be indicating by their writings and utterances in the last two weeks that they cared far more whether the White case would hurt or help one party or the other politically than they did about uniting in a forthright condemnation of the bald-faced treason of highly placed officials, as revealed in the reports of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, now disclosed.

THE STORY of the years upon years of frustration suffered by the FBI director and his associates in ferreting out the traitors, only to see them kept on in government posts, has gotten little emphasis.

Instead, an effort has been made to pin a political label or motive on the FBI director because he told the facts to a Senate subcommittee.

Already there are some Democrats who are said to be preparing a political barrage against the efficiency of the FBI for allegedly failing to find out about the espionage ring before Elizabeth Bentley testified in 1945. Having been goaded once into telling the facts publicly in order to protect the integrity of the FBI against stories planted by Truman apologists—that the FBI had agreed to keep White on in the government just to watch him—the FBI now may be forced to tell the whole sordid record of how report after report was made, beginning in 1943, and how both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations disregarded those reports.

IT WOULD be much better for these Democratic strategists to begin condemning a few Communists instead of persisting in the tactics of the last few years, which have been to try to discredit the man who makes the charges while ignoring the seriousness of the charges themselves.

It was in 1939 that Whittaker

Take the case of William Remington. A Senate committee—headed by Sen. Ferguson, released on Sept. 5, 1948, a report which was prepared in large part by William P. Rogers, then its counsel, who now is deputy attorney general under Mr. Brownell.

THAT REPORT reads almost exactly like the record in the White case. It said:

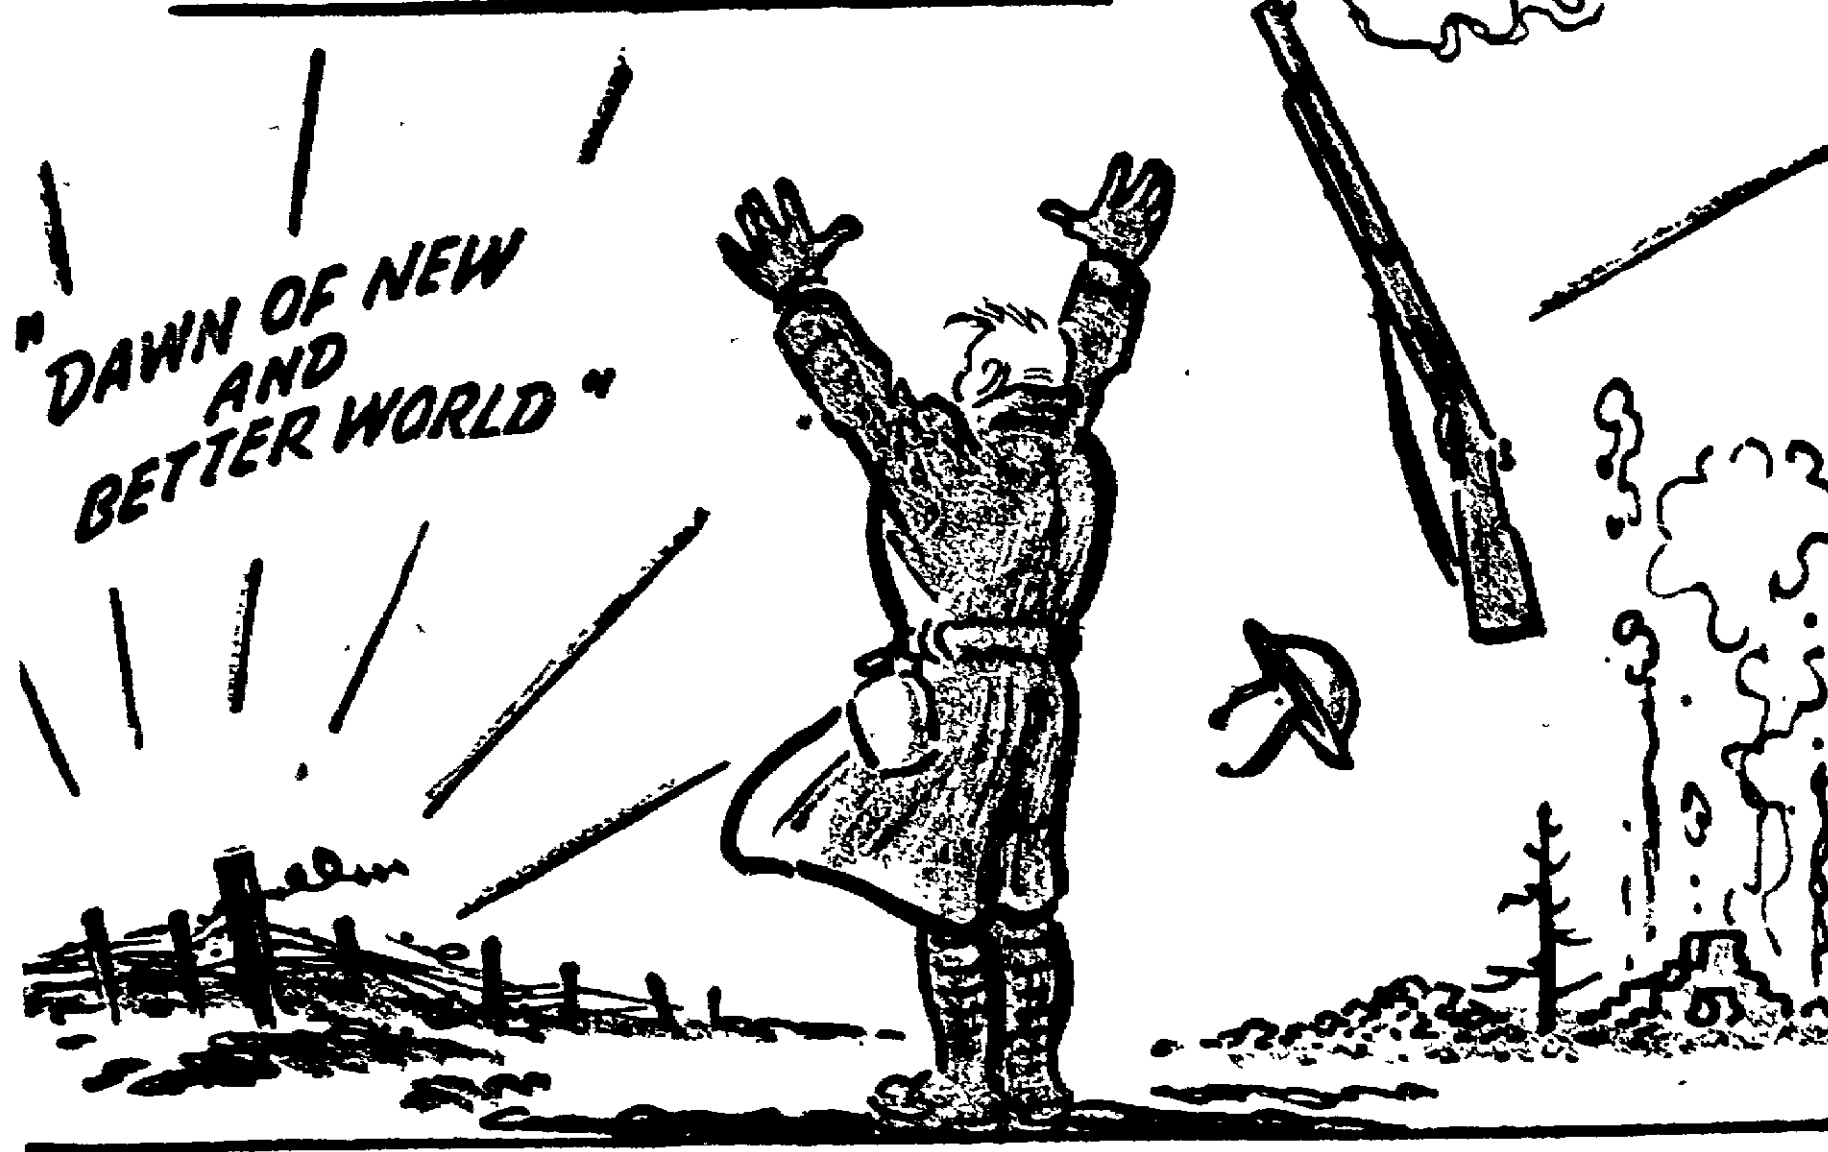

"The subcommittee believes that the case of William W. Remington is not necessarily an isolated one... according to testimony before the subcommittee, Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, a confessed Soviet spy, appeared at the field office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at New Haven, Conn., in August 1945. She was closely examined by the Bureau agents and told her complete story between August and December 1945. Among the matters she disclosed to the agents was Remington's connection with her espionage activities.

"This subcommittee is at a loss to understand how Remington could remain as a government employee between Dec. 1945 and his suspension on June 8, 1948. From Dec. 1945 to June 1946, Remington was an ensign in the Naval Reserve on assignment to the Executive Office of the President of the United States—with the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. After his discharge from the Navy, he remained as a civilian employee of that agency until March 1947. From March 1947 to March 1948 he was with the council of economic advisers, which is also a White House staff agency. During the time that he was with the Council of Economic Advisers, he was loaned to the Harriman committee which formulated the Marshall Plan program. He transferred from the Council of Economic Advisers to the Office of International Trade in the Commerce Department on March 18, 1948, where he held a most sensitive position, namely chairman of the 'ad hoc' committee which handled information of a most confidential nature concerning exports and imports to and from Russia and its satellite countries."

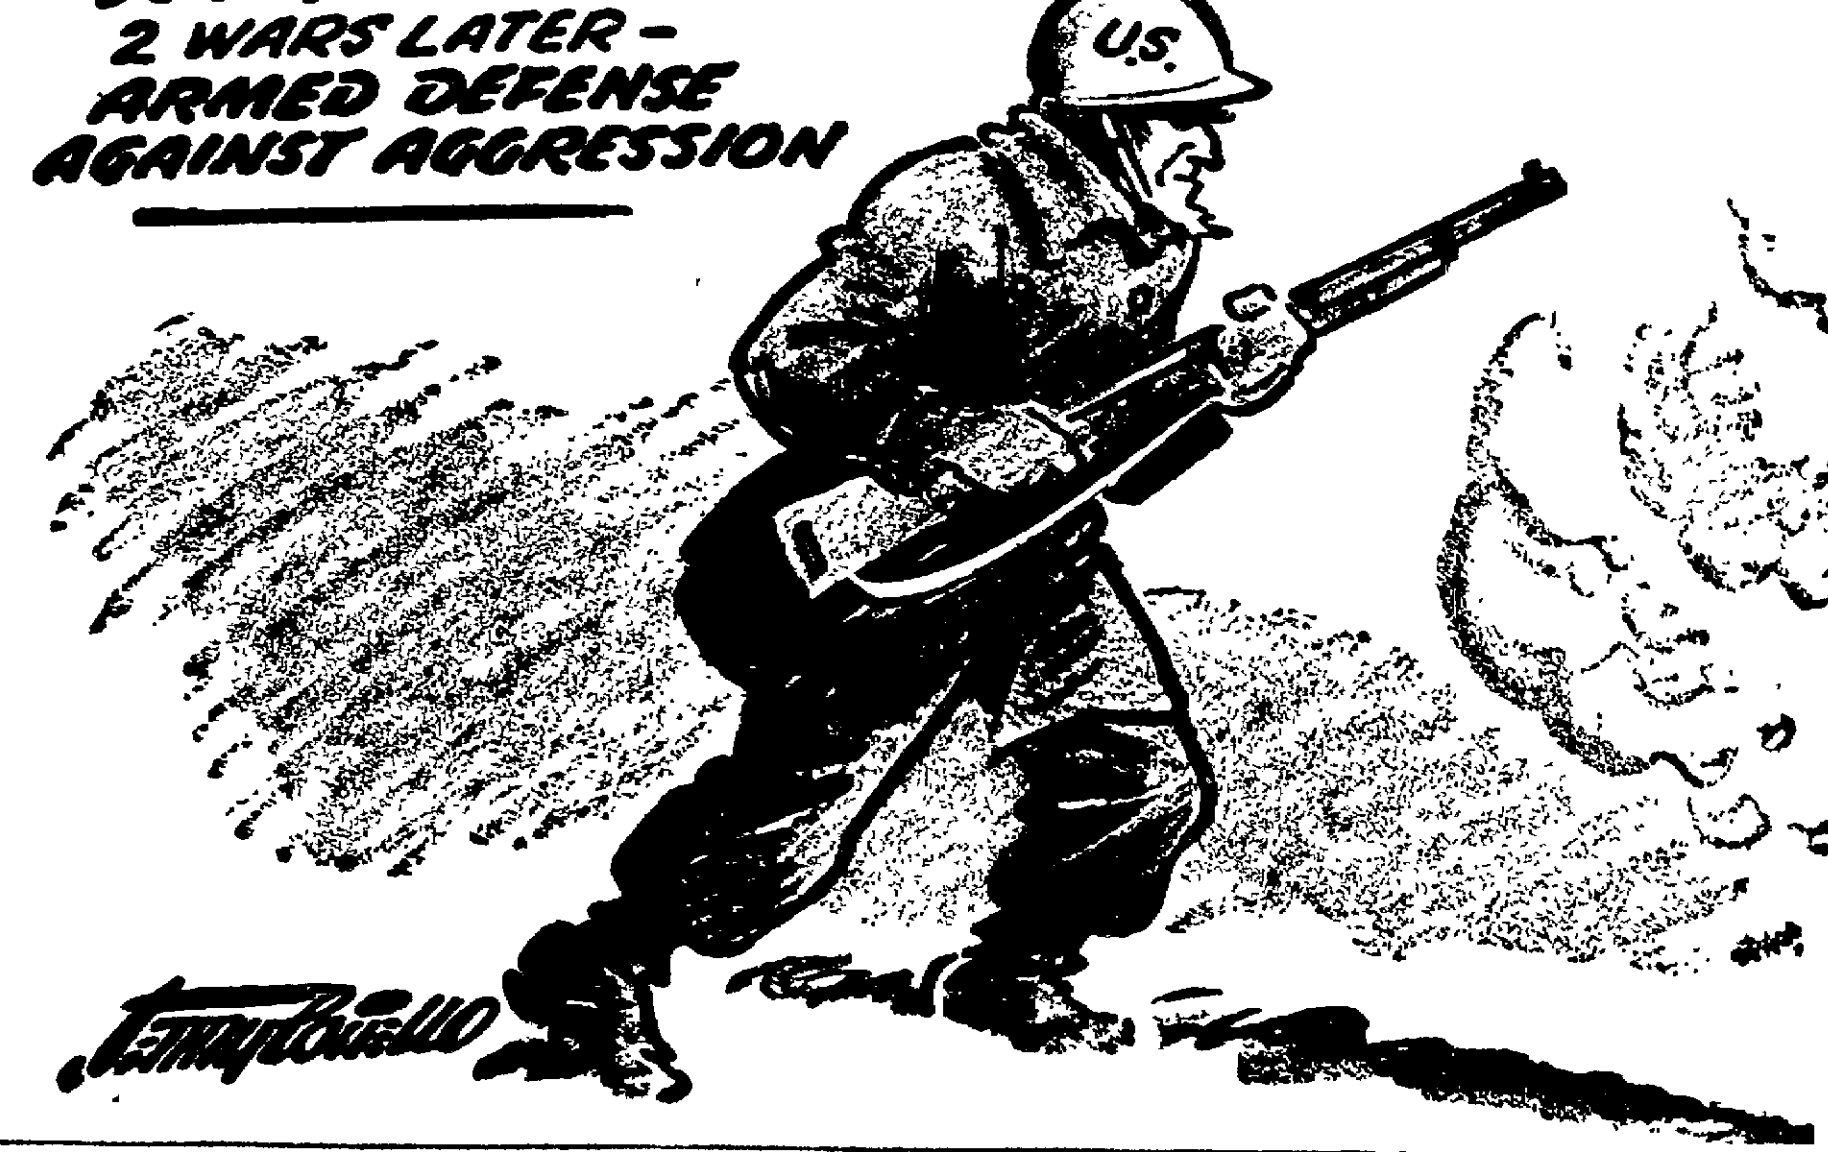

REMINGTON himself confirmed later in his testimony before the Senate committee that he "was definitely associated with individuals who were communistic in their sympathies," and he admitted meeting Miss Bentley through individuals known to him to be Communists, and that he met her in surreptitious places and gave her information acquired during his Every family naturally puts its best foot forward when guests are present, but not many go all-out the way Danish hostesses do. A normal evening with guests in for dinner would go something like this: dinner with all the trimmings followed by coffee.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Godfrey in the Woods

Arthur Godfrey is deer hunting. On the first day he missed a shot at four bucks. (If it had been four grand he would have been dead.) Arthur thinks hunting relaxes him but our answer is, "Wanna bet?"

The redhead is so happy and contented on the air that there can be nothing but disappointment in view of the fact a deer can't applaud, laugh or whistle and cares nothing for tea, cigarettes or noodle soup.

We think that when Godfrey runs across a deer his first impulse is to propose skating lessons. If he runs into three, he asks for a fourth so he will have a quartet.

It is hard to picture Arthur as a deer slayer in the old pioneer traditions. We see him away out there in the deep woods thoroughly unhappy with no radio or TV audience and no news of how much Julius La Rosa took down last week.

Suppose Godfrey brings down a deer; where's the thrill if nobody cheers? There's no chance for the surefire laugh when you ask a deer where it comes from and it is utterly incapable of replying, "Brooklyn!"

It is our hunch that when Godfrey suddenly comes upon a deer he greets it cordially, asks it to sit down and says, "Well, well, you're certainly charming. Tell me all about yourself. Whom have you brought with you?"

There is a report that Arthur has a system for judging a deer. . . . One prong: amateur type; two prongs: needs more experience; three prongs: might be okay with the Mariners or Frank Parker; four prongs: very good, IF HUMBLE.

We wonder what the effect on a deer is when it gets the news it can get on a Godfrey woodland program by just showing up! Arthur is accompanied on his hunting trip by Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson and Gen. LeMay, U.S. strategic air commandant.

We never suspected he needed that much defense except possibly against moose, black panthers and amusement agents on the hunt to steal away a La Rosa. (La Rosa, by the way, scorns the deep woods. He would look silly stalking an elk with "Everywhere I Wander," or going after a bear with "I'm Walking Behind You.")

It is our suspicion that the Godfrey-Wilson-LeMay hunt is not all work. Our scouts hint that the secretary of defense spent much of the time learning to play the ukulele, that Godfrey took a hand at cutting budgets and that LeMay got into trouble smoking the wrong cigarette and bringing his own soups.

THE RECIPE

The FBI sent data high
Upon a man. There was no fury;
He stayed in government because
Of no conviction by a JURY.

This may explain what happened after last January when a new administration moved into Washington and found itself sagged in bureaucratic flypaper.

It may dawn on the American People some day that Communist conspirators have an extremely lively interest in keeping any administration they cannot infiltrate from settling down in Washington for a long stay.

These people have not given up and faded away just because their former patrons in politics would like to have Americans forget they ever existed.

Sky Holes

The startling information that 12,000 deaths were blamed on London's famous fogs last year makes this country's worst fog toll — 20 deaths and 4,000 illnesses at Donora, Pa., in 1948 — seem insignificant.

But it was Donora, not London, which apprehensive observers remembered last week as inverted air masses pressed down fumes on the populations of nearly every city from the Atlantic coast to Ohio.

Pollution of stagnant air by industrial fumes is a distinct threat to safety in this era of massed populations. London's fogs, a nuisance that can be blamed on geography, were not killers until London's industrial fumes and massed population were added to what otherwise was a natural phenomenon.

In due time this new challenge to safety will be taken up aggressively by public health officials. They are beginning to understand the nature of the problem.

Some way must be found to release poisonous fumes and tars suspended in stagnant air held close to the ground by overhead air masses. The answer will be "sky holes" to create upward air drafts — something in the nature of the artificial drafts created successfully by Pacific Coast orchardists with huge engine-driven fans.

Now We Can Speak Freely

Since new scientists say some old scientists didn't know a 10-year-old bone from a 100,000-year-old bone when they dug them up in a gravel pit at Piltdown, England, 40-odd years ago, the rest of us can speak freely too.

We never have taken stock in the idea that the history of man can be reconstructed from looking at bones. We know too much about men.

They are generalizers. Having made up their minds what they want to believe, they will seize upon any excuse to believe it. That's what fooled them in the Piltdown discovery.

Since they have blown themselves sky-high in this matter, we feel free to declare our own thoughts on the matter.

Our remote ancestors were fine-looking people with chartreuse complexions. They were seven feet tall on the average, with three large, limpid eyes, seven fingers on each hand, seven toes on each foot and bushy tails which they curled around their feet for warmth when they went to football games. They were highly intelligent, had split the atom and developed a universal language. They had things pretty good — better than they have been for the last couple thousand years.

Chambers first told his story about Alger Hiss to an assistant secretary of state, but President Roosevelt chose to ignore it.

In 1943 the FBI took up the trail on Hiss, but no committee of Congress was permitted to have the FBI facts, by order of the White House.

What a blow to the morale of any honest, painstaking, hard-working group of law-enforcement officers who get convincing information on criminals, and then see the latter kept on in their government jobs!

And what of the many loyal officials inside the government and the members of congressional committees who kept pressing the last two administrations to take action against subversives, only to be met by a cry that it was all just a "red herring"?

These are some of the things that make me wince:

Columnists who discuss telecasts of baseball and football games and refer to the folly of "giving away" entertainment which live spectators must pay to see. Don't the columnists know that promoters sell telecasting rights the same as they sell the pop and peanut concession?

People who know someone who is a victim of arthritis and refer to it as "arthrititis." Some of my best friends are named Arthur and I resent the implication they are capable of inflicting pain.

Citizens who talk as if they knew that the two-party system of politics was the secret of America's success in getting results from government, then act as if they didn't know the two-party system can't operate without the kind of politics they pointed to with scorn whenever it's practiced.

Women who show by their handling of children in public places that they are capable of yanking helpless kids around to show their strength and impatience and may maim and kill her own offspring some day in a fit of temper.

Auto drivers who rely on other drivers to give them a wide enough berth so they can indulge in dangerous antics on city streets and country highways with a chance to get by without an accident.

Writers who add to the tails of their frail literary kites until the kite is dragged down to earth by an excess of qualifiers.

Parents who want to boast about their children at the same time that I am boasting about my children — not that I am unwilling to listen but am unwilling to be interrupted.

The furious battle for the minds of a few added Americans who succumbed to the Reds' psychological warfare in Korea and the information acquired during government employment.

He admitted virtually all of Miss Bentley's testimony to be true, but claimed she misunderstood his motives, and that the information he gave her was not secret.

WHAT IS NOT yet realized by a vast number of Americans is that a man may not himself improperly influence governmental policy, he may prove himself meticulous in his fidelity to duty on the things he does in his official post, and may yet make available secretly to a foreign government information of a confidential character from inside his own and other departments of our government.

He cannot be prosecuted for espionage for this, but he can be dismissed from his government job for disloyalty.

Hundred and One Ways To Cook Elephant."

THE IMPLICATION of this little tale is essentially correct. Food is an obsession with the Danes. They spend an unparalleled amount of time and energy in preparing delicious food, and they have successfully cultivated the arts of leisurely eating and of finding great enjoyment in the family dinner.

Undoubtedly a major reason for Danish insistence upon good food is that agriculture is the biggest business in Denmark and the backbone of the economy. Danish farmers are devoted to the soil and they work their not-too-fertile land diligently and scientifically. The yield per acre here is, on the average, three times greater than in the States, and is exceeded only in Holland.

This output enables the Danes to eat better than any other European country except Sweden (and according to the Danes, the Swedes are poor cooks), and to supply a large share of England's pork and dairy product requirements.

The staples of the Danish diet are bread, butter, milk, cheese, potatoes, pork, fish, and in the summer, fresh vegetables. All types of fruit are available, but at relatively higher prices.

BANANAS, which were shipped to Denmark for the first time less than a year ago, are in great demand, although they still may not be imported during the Danish apple season. Danish cheeses are exceptionally good, and the pork is of the highest quality. In the fish line, herring and mackerel are consumed in large quantities, but they are overshadowed by eel, a fish food that is inherently repugnant to most Americans, but a delicacy to Danes.

An average American housewife would probably be appalled at the primitive nature of Danish kitchens. Electric refrigerators and ranges are practically unknown, and there are no such luxuries as electric mixers, grills or dishwashers. The standard equipment is a gas range, (including a small oven if one is lucky), an ice box, various hand implements, and running water. It often seems slightly incongruous that colorful and appetizing dishes should be prepared in such circumstances, but apparently ingenuity and industriousness make up for lack of conveniences.

The average Danish diet is healthful and plentiful from day to day but what strikes the visitor is the frequency with which Danes eat and the distinctively Danish dishes. An ordinary schedule would be breakfast around most important in everyday life, because smorrebrod is synonymous with lunch. Smorrebrod is an open faced sandwich that has become a national institution. Every Dane, whether man, woman, or child, executive, student, or laborer, eats smorrebrod lunches day in and day out.

Six pieces of smorrebrod is the standard fare, with a typical variety perhaps including combinations of egg and cheese, cold beef and sliced cucumber, sardines and lettuce, liver paste and tomato, sliced eel and sauce, etc., each on a thin slice of butter-coated rye bread. To use two pieces of bread in one sandwich is out of the question, and to eat smorrebrod with one's hands instead of with knife and fork is a vulgarity.

The smorrebrod is usually carried in flat paper packages that can be fitted into briefcases, pocketbooks and coat pockets. If the cheese happens to be a little too strong, they can be easily stuffed into obscure drawers or other cubbyholes.

DANISH PASTRY is the most enjoyed taste treat experienced by foreign visitors. Vienerbrod, a light, crispy pastry somewhat resembling sweet rolls, is exceptionally popular and is served mainly at tea time. But to describe the individual creations of Danish bakers would be an endless task.

Suffice it to say that every things followed by after-dinner wine and cigars; at approximately 9:30, a spread of 10 or 12 different cheeses with crackers, and wine or beer; and just before the guests leave, hot coffee with various pastries.

In addition to these planned courses, there is usually an emergency snack of some sort that can be used to fill the gap should a conversational lapse occur. Danes are never happier than when they get together with the family or friends around the dinner table.

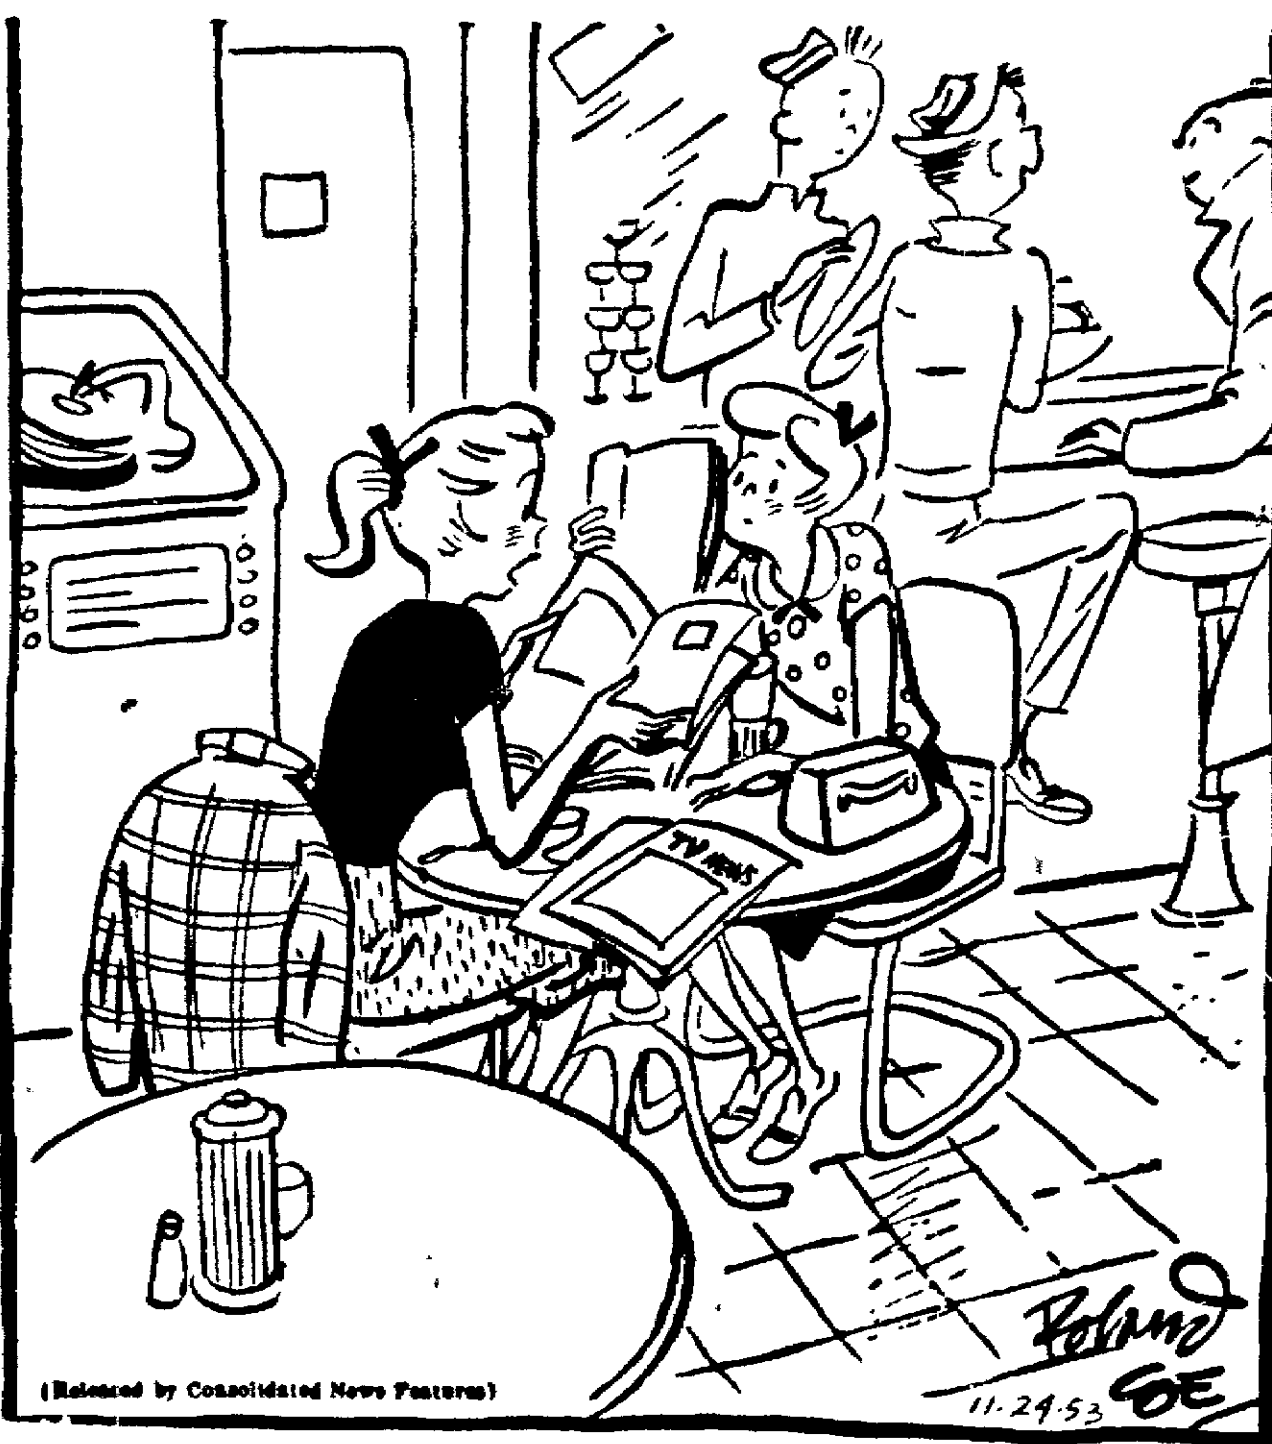

A WORD about Danish beer. It is jokingly asserted that the Danish national drink is beer and that the national weakness is another beer. The first proposition is true, the second false. Beer is consumed in tremendous quantities here, but one seldom finds evidence of its abuse.

Children are introduced to beer porridge (non-alcoholic) at approximately two years of age, and when they reach their late teens, they switch to the alcoholic varieties. Beer is not only drunk in the mornings, afternoons and evenings, but with all meals except breakfast. Water is considered to be for external use only and is not to be taken with meals.

It is hard to understand why, with such a rich diet, the average Danish man is of slight build and the women trim and chic. On second thought, it is obvious their continual cycling that uses up the excess calories.

John Leibold Wins Honors

Paralysis Fails To Keep Ex-LaRue Student Down

Despite the handicap of being almost completely paralyzed by a combined attack of polio and encephalitis in 1948, John Leibold, formerly of LaRue, is moving forward in his attempt to make a career for himself.

Still confined to a wheelchair for movements outside the house, John was elected last week to the position of president of the newly formed "Pre-law Club" at Ohio Northern University.

JOHN HAS PROGRESSED remarkably well in his attempt to overcome the paralysis. He is now able to move around on crutches while in his own house, but needs the wheelchair when outside.

For the youth, this is a marked contrast to five years ago when he was unable to move any of his muscles, not even to focus his eyes. By degrees, he regained the use of his muscles, first those in his neck and then his hands.

His muscles are still weak, but his friends at the university express the opinion he will continue his recovery.

DURING THE TIME of the worst part of his illness, John took treatments at the clinic at Warm Springs, Ga. and several therapeutic clinics throughout Ohio.

But his handicap didn't stop his activity. John learned to paint pictures by holding the brush in his teeth and to operate an electric typewriter, punching the keys with a stick held in his mouth.

Now in his junior year at Ohio Northern, John has been an outstanding student, having been named to the Dean's list of honor students several times.

He is popular with his fellow students, and was chosen by them to head not only the new Pre-Law Club, but also the International Relations Club at the university.

JOHN LEIBOLD
Heads College Pre-Law Club

He was also chosen this year for a place in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. This honor is based on scholarship, leadership, extra-curricular activities, and promise of future usefulness.

John was about to enter his senior year, at LaRue High School when he was struck down by polio. During the time he was confined to a hospital in Columbus, he took special courses in the subjects he needed for his high school diploma.

In September, 1951, he enrolled in the liberal arts course at Ohio Northern to take pre-law studies. He intends to continue his studies after receiving his bachelor's degree. Eventually he hopes to pass the bar and become an attorney.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Leibold, sold their farm near LaRue when John enrolled at the school. They moved to Ada so they could be nearer their son and assist him whenever possible.

Martin Doubts House Would Pass Sales Tax

Too Many Republicans Joining Opposition To Plan, Speaker Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R—Mass.) appeared today to have delivered a final, fatal blow against any prospect that Congress would enact a general sales tax next year.

Martin, returning from a two-month tour abroad, told a news conference yesterday he doubts a sales tax could pass the House.

That made it just about unanimous among House leaders on both sides of the aisle.

Democrats Opposed

Democratic leaders, after a canvass of sentiment, predicted last week that 95 per cent of their party members would vote against any national sales tax. And Republican Floor Leader Charles Halleck (R—Ind.) joined the anti-sales tax forces over the weekend.

Representatives Jere Cooper of Tennessee and Daniel Reed of New York—the senior democrat and senior Republican, respectively, on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee—also have opposed the idea.

Martin's statement, climaxing an almost solid show of opposition from both parties, touched off speculation that Eisenhower administration now would abandon further consideration of the tax.

One of Several Plans

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has said he is considering a general manufacturers' sales or excise tax, along with other proposals. President Eisenhower has spoken out against a federal retail sales tax but left the door open to manufacturers' level tax.

One authoritative Treasury official said last week the general manufacturers' sales tax still was a possibility. But recent speeches by Treasury officials have put less emphasis on that idea and more stress on prospects for some revision of present excise taxes.

Chicago GOP Hears Address By Humphrey

Sturdy Defense Based On Sound Economy Said Security Aim

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey says the Republican administration is working towards a national security based on "a sturdy defense supported by a sound economy."

At a $100-a-plate Republican dinner last night, Humphrey shared the rostrum with another Cabinet member, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare.

"Our concern for our economy is nothing less than our concern for the first line of defense for every freedom that we cherish," Humphrey said.

Mrs. Hobby told the 1,650 persons attending the dinner in the Palmer House that "peace in Korea" ranks first among accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration.

Humphrey said the Republicans' economic policies are "speeding the day" of tax reductions. But he said these reductions can come only as spending drops.

He said the present administration is dealing with "crippling burdens inherited from the previous administration" in "the fiscal and economic field."

Two of these, he said, were that the public debt "practically at the limit of 275 billion dollars" had been "badly managed by the Democrats and that no money had been provided to pay for 81 billion dollars in defense orders to be delivered this year and during the next two years.

Nearly three fourths of the public debt, Humphrey said, "matures within less than five years or is redeemable at the holders option with too large a proportion in the hands of banks rather than distributed to long term investors.

"Both of these conditions were deliberately planned by our predecessors and affect the supply of credit."

Jewish Temple Dedicated; 150 Persons Attend

Approximately 150 persons were present Sunday afternoon for the dedication program of the new Temple Israel of the Marion Congregation of Israel at Mt. Vernon and S. Seffner Aves.

During a two-day open house event, Saturday and Sunday, in which the people of the city were invited to visit the building, about 500 persons inspected the new Temple.

Principal speaker for the dedication program was Dr. Jerome D. Folkman, rabbi of the Bryden Road Temple Israel in Columbus. He expressed to the group that he is thrilled with the new edifice, adding that it is one of the many signs of progress in today's living.

Joseph Halberstein presided as master of ceremonies for the occasion and the program was opened with the National Anthem and the invocation by Rabbi Selig Selkowitz, presently a student rabbi here.

Sol Freed, president of the local congregation, gave words of welcome to the persons present, thanked committees who helped in planning the construction, and also the program committee which planned the dedication program.

Presenting the key to the new building to the congregation was Leo Yassinoff, president of the F & Y Construction Co. of Columbus, general contractors on the project. Receiving the key was the chairman of the site committee, L. J. Teitelbaum, who turned it over to the co-chairman of the building committee, Allen Fireman, who accepted in behalf of the committee chairman, Ben Salzman, who was unable to attend. The key then was given to Mr. Freed.

State Presses $71,000 Bank Robbery Case

CLEVELAND (U)—The state planned to put an FBI expert on the stand today in an effort to show Dr. Alexander V. Spaeth lied when he gave alibi testimony in a $71,000 bank robbery case.

The FBI document specialist, George F. Mesnig, testified 11 months ago when Joseph J. Sanzo, 23, of Cleveland was convicted of robbing an official of the Union Savings and Trust Co. in Warren Aug. 14, 1952.

Dr. Spaeth's testimony for Sanzo resulted in the perjury charge for which he now is being tried. The 51-year-old physician said Sanzo visited his office for treatment of a skin ailment on the day the robbery was committed. He produced a medical record card for Sanzo to support his statement.

The state contends the date originally stamped on the card was changed to read Aug. 14, the date the bank official was held up while carrying the funds from one branch bank to the other in Warren.

Charter

on the foundation of the charter. At the beginning of the meeting, the group adopted a preamble to the charter and three sections dealing with the powers of the city.

In the preamble, adopted from the charter of Sandusky, the statement reads that the people of Marion adopt the charter pursuant to the conditions of the constitution of Ohio for the general well being of the community.

Sections dealing with powers of the city were taken from the charters of Sandusky, Cleveland Heights, Delaware, and Middletown. The three sections give a brief summary that the laws of the charter, if not in conflict with the state constitution, will apply to the city, to be known as "The City of Marion, Ohio."

They also provide that any laws in effect at the time the charter goes into effect, and not overruled by the charter, shall remain in effect. The same applies to all lawsuits.

No Controversy

Members agreed these two parts of the charter were not controversial, but rather, merely a matter of routine wording.

A proposed preamble to the charter was submitted to the commission by member Walter Moore last week for study. From that original proposal, members deleted some sections, changed the wording on others, and voted to accept the finished product.

Following the adoption of the first part of the charter, the group went into discussion on the ward system of the electing of councilmen and partisan balloting. Members pointed out that the retention of the present system of the ward and at-large elections does not rule out the possibility of forming new wards in the city should the population increase enough to warrant such action.

Not Practical

In the discussion of the partisan versus the non-partisan ballot, the non-partisan ballot was called theoretically the better choice by Miss Edith Brown, a commission member. However, in practice, no such plan could really work in a place like Marion, or any other city where people took a real interest in the government, she said, adding that there would always be some sort of party, whether Democrat, Republican, pro-charter, anti-charter, or any other name it might be given.

Next week the group plans to discuss the best form of government for Marion. As a result of the retention of the ward plan for electing members of council, the commission form of government was virtually rejected, since usually no more than five commissioners are elected.

Probe

"is to find out what was in the summaries."

Brownell's memo said that, "pursuant to a request of the attorney general by Mr. Clark M. Clifford," an FBI summary containing secret information on Glasser was given Tom C. Clark and relayed to Clifford on July 25, 1946.

Clark, now a Supreme Court justice, was then attorney general. Clifford was counsel at the time to Truman. It was not brought out why Clark wanted the summary or what was in it.

McCarthy, meanwhile, declined to discuss what he will take in his speech from New York City tonight, but an aide said the senator plans to devote at least part of his half-hour to talking about Glasser.

The broadcast is scheduled at 11 p. m., EST. McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee plans three-weekly public hearings in New York, starting today, on his charges of security laxity at the Army's Ft. Monmouth, N. J., radar laboratory. McCarthy said last night he will complain to the Federal Communications Commission if any stations which carried Truman's speech failed to carry his reply.

Colleges Seeking Benefits

Pressure On To Alter GI Bill, Congressman Says

WASHINGTON (U)—Rep. Teague (D-Tex.) said today "dollars and cents pressure" on schools may force Congress next year to change the education provisions of the GI benefit law.

"I am convinced the taxpayer is getting a better break under the present law," Teague said in an interview, "but pressure for a change is building up."

Feel Economic Pinch
The pressure, he said, is coming from private colleges and universities whose veterans enrollment is lagging and who feel an economic pinch.

He said Rep. Springer (R-Ill.) stands a good chance of winning sufficient support for passage of his bill to separate tuition fees from subsistence payments to Korea veterans eligible for college training.

Under a benefit law passed in 1952, veterans of the Korean War are paid lump sums to cover their subsistence and tuition fees. Previously, World War II veterans were paid subsistence funds, but tuition fees went directly to the school. Springer made an unsuccessful effort to get the separate payment provision in the present law. He proposes that the schools get $30 a month for each veteran enrolled and attending classes.

Fought Move

But Teague, senior Democrat on the House Veterans Affairs Committee, fought this when he steered the Korea GI bill to passage. The Texas had headed a special House committee which investigated the World War II veterans educational program and disclosed many expensive abuses. The new act was designed to wipe out extravagance and fraud.

Teague said a group of private colleges "feel they are being discriminated against because they are not getting as many GIs under the present law as they did under the old law."

"But the law was passed for the benefit of the veterans, not the colleges and universities," he said. He said in the years after World War II private colleges had a 64-36 percentage edge in enrollment over public colleges, but now the public schools have about a 53-47 margin and the private institutions "want to get back the big edge."

Price-Fixing Fines Levied In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (U)—A trade association was fined $3,000, and AFL union $2,000 and four jobbers $1,500 each by Federal Judge Charles J. McNamee yesterday on charges of price-fixing in cigarette, tobacco and candy trade here.

The defendants entered pleas of "nolo contendere" (no contest) to government charges they forced Greater Cleveland retailers to pay "arbitrary and artificial prices" through an agreement to control wholesale prices and keep out competition. A federal grand jury returned an indictment in the case months ago.

The fines imposed were: Tobacco and Candy Jobbers Assn., Ind., $3,000; and Executive Secretary William Presser, $1,500. Commission House Drivers Local of the AFL Teamsters Union, $2,000; and its vice president, Michael P. Rini, $1,500 with $1,000 suspended. Anter Bros Co., $1,500; and its secretary, Alfred Anter, $500. Zell Co., $1,500; and its president, Richard Zell, $500. H. Katovsky, Inc., $50; and its secretary, Irving Katovsky, $250. Safier, Inc., $1,500. Robert Greene, an officer of the trade association and a partner in A. & E. Tobacco Co., $1,000. Max M. Cohen, partner in Milton Candy Co., $1,000.

Ike

Nazi tyranny . . . for your vigorous campaign to eliminate racial segregation in the armed forces; for your efforts to end un-democratic patterns of racial discrimination in Washington, our capital city."

But most of all, said Schultz, "we honor you for your continuing leadership of the free world." Eisenhower replied in an informal, televised address that he had been briefed at length by his staff on civil liberties and the league's role in standing up for them. But he said he wasn't going to talk to the league members "about something of which they know a lot more than I do."

Then he noted he was reared "in the West" in Abilene, Kan. "We had as our marshal for a long time a man named Wild Bill Hickock," he said. "If you don't know anything about him, read your Westerns more."

Code of Old West

"Now that town had a code, and I was raised as a boy to prize that code."

"It was: meet anyone face to face with whom you disagree. You could not sneak up on him from behind or do any damage to him without suffering the penalty of an outraged citizenry. If you met face to face and took the same risks he did, you could get away with almost anything, as long as the bullet was in the front."

That touched off a round of laughter, and then the President said: "And today . . . you live after all by that same code . . ."

"In this country, if someone dislikes or accuses you, he must come up in front. He cannot hide behind the shadow. He cannot assassinate you or your character from behind, without suffering the penalties an outraged citizenry will impose."

If Eisenhower had any individuals in mind in talking about such penalties, he named no names.

JAMIE K ARRIVED FIRST

cleaning fee would be made only when the Short-Ford wrecker is used to tow away wrecked cars.

Firm Responsible

The contract for the storage of the impounded cars will also require that Short-Ford be responsible for the cars and their contents from the moment the wrecker hooks onto the car. Police previously had not impounded cars because they would have been responsible for the cars and their contents an adhad no place to store them safely.

Officials of Short Ford reported this morning the exact location of the garage had not been determined as yet. The location will be determined upon the approval of the contract between city council and Short-Ford by the city solicitor and the firm's attorney.

Councilman Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward, asked Forrest and Piacentino if passage of the ordinance will mean the impounding of cars illegally parked on the south side of Church St. during the 3-6 p. m. parking ban.

Forrest replied that the police department will start impounding illegally parked cars as soon as the ordinance becomes effective in about three weeks.

Raps Church St. Parking

At previous Council meetings, Fralich complained several times because motorists were parking on Church St. during the no parking hours. He argued this made the purpose of the ban ineffective.

Council passed the ban several weeks ago in an attempt to speed up traffic flow in the downtown district during the afternoon rush hour.

Fralich also pointed out that many cars are parked in the no parking zone on Church St. even though police are doing a "good job of ticketing them."

In other action, council threatened to make public the names of persons owing money to City Hospital after learning unpaid hospital accounts total $46,000. This action came as the suggestion of Councilman Don Quintance, Fifth Ward. He told Council that a list of some 12 pages of names was turned over to the finance committee by Miss Irene Tinklepaugh, hospital administrator.

He suggested Council publish the names so that "everyone in town will know just who pays their bills and who does not."

Makes Objection

This was objected to by Louis Conkle, Fourth Ward. He said there were many people included on the list who are financially unable to pay their hospital bill and publication of their names would be unfair to them.

Councilman Fralich said this was true but added the list also contains many names of persons who are financially able to pay their bills, some of which have been unpaid since 1949.

There was considerable more discussion during which City Auditor Elmer Shaw noted that the hospital "will just about break even" this year. Fralich then pointed out that while this was true, the hospital operation would be well in the black if all or even part of these bills totaling $46,000 were paid. Discussion then turned to the question of whether or not the delinquent accounts should be turned over to the Ohio Bureau of Credits for collection.

Discussion closed with adoption of a motion by Harold Smith, First Ward, that the matter be sent to the Municipal Services Committee for further study before any official action be taken.

Adlai

called progress in the South "even more conspicuous than that in the North."

"I believe, and I think in common with the great majority of thoughtful white people of the South," he continued, "that this improvement must and will continue."

He said that to keep the promises made by the Republican party in 1952 "would have been about as easy as for one Siamese twin to jump off the Brooklyn Bridge while the other kept the skillet hot for the fish fry."

'Saved' by Democrats

And he claimed that on two thirds of the key issues in the last session, Democrats saved the Republican administration from the Republican Congress.

"The attitude of many Republican leaders seems to be 'I Like Ike, but I don't like what Ike likes,'" he remarked. Stevenson asserted that his party "looks more united than this for a long time."

"Until lately the dopesters were freely predicting that the North-South cleavage would pull the Democratic party apart at the seams," he said. "We lost an election in 1952, but we did not lose our vitality or sense of mission. And the sheep that strayed are daily coming back into the fold."

Some areas on the Gulf and Pacific coasts of North America get more than 100 inches of rainfall a year while many parts of the American Desert get less than 10.

Royal Greeting Given Queen on Bermuda Visit

HAMILTON, Bermuda (U)—Queen Elizabeth II flew today to this holidaying pleasure isle—and a royal welcome—for the first official stop on her round-the-world Commonwealth tour.

The young monarch and the Duke of Edinburgh left Gander, Nfld., early today for the 1,265-mile flight in the big American-built Stratocruiser.

Face Busy Day

Bermuda Gov. Sir Alexander Hood headed the party to welcome the Queen and her husband in an airport ceremony, the first event of their crowded one-day stay. The royal couple will take off again tomorrow for Jamaica to continue the six-month tour. They will visit Australia, Ceylon, New Zealand and 10 British possessions and protectorates.

Highlights of their Bermuda program included a tour of the island, a speech of welcome and response by the Queen at a joint meeting of the House of Assembly and the Legislative Council, the governor's garden party and a state dinner at Government House tonight.

The Queen and her husband took off from London after an enthusiastic farewell from other members of the royal family, top officials of the British government and thousands of her cheering subjects.

Bid Children Goodby

An hour before, they had said goodby to their two small children—Prince Charles, 5, and Princess Anne, 3, at Buckingham Palace.

Sped by strong tail winds, their big plane, the Canopus, raced across the Atlantic to Gander in 9 hours and 52 minutes. It roared out of the fog 22 minutes ahead of schedule to a perfect landing on the big international airport.

It was the first transatlantic air crossing by a reigning British monarch.

Although no ceremony had been arranged since the stop was "unofficial," the Queen and the duke made a surprise appearance at the plane door near the end of the 94-minute refueling and servicing stop at Gander. A crowd of 300, gathered in the early morning gloom, cheered lustily.

Extraordinary safety precautions surrounded the flight. Royal Canadian Air Force bombers which met the big Stratocruiser 750 miles east of Gander provided an escort for the hop to Bermuda.

"1. Customer good will being the company's greatest asset, major attention must be given to operations with particular reference to improving facilities, strengthening personnel, expediting shipment of repair orders . . . and improving field service."

"2. The company is concentrating on earning its way out of the difficulties arising from preferred dividend arrears."

These Days

By George Sokolsky

One phase of the White Case which ought to pass unnoticed is the attitude of the anti-anti-Communists. They ignore the dread-anti-Communists.

SOKOLSKY

It is a curious phenomenon in American life, because while every citizen is entitled to his opinion and to its expression, espionage by an American in the interest of a foreign foe or even a foreign nation that is not a foe should be normally abhorrent to an American.

THE PHRASE, anti-anti-Communist, is cumbersome and does not quite convey the idea that while those who follow this line say that they are as violently opposed to Communism as anybody else, they always, without exception, come to the defense, if not of Marxist ideas, certainly of Communist personalities when they get into trouble.

The consistency of their position inevitably engenders suspicion as to their motives. Theirs is a pattern of support.

While it is not possible to say that they are pro-Marxist or pro-Russian, it is possible to establish that they are the vanguard of the defense of Communist individuals.

Marquis Childs recently wrote: "In this gloomy view — gloomy, that is, to those who feel that a continuing Katzenjammer act is hopelessly destructive — Brownell and Republican National Chairman Hall will conclude that more and bigger White cases will serve their purposes. They will thus go into the uneasy graveyard of the recent past and come up with a new skeleton whenever the prevailing excitement shows signs of damping down."

AND WHY NOT? Are not the lessons of history learned by digging in the graveyards of the past? Why do historians and archeologists seek the remains of ancient civilizations if it is not to broaden our understanding of human conduct?

How, for example, are we ever to learn how to protect our national existence if we do not discuss the methods that the Russians employed in their infiltration of our government, using native sons as spies?

How did they recruit these extraordinarily brilliant young men? What was the attraction?

How did they manage to get them to forsake every ideal of loyalty and morality, to forsake a country that gave them every opportunity to advance themselves to high positions in government?

How can we study this unless we analyze such case histories as come to us?

HARRY DEXTER WHITE is a case history of an educated American, a graduate of and teacher at Harvard University, an economist who rose to be assistant secretary of the Treasury, who became not only a Communist but a spy.

The anti-anti-Communist may say that White is dead. So is Hitler. I have never heard of anti-anti-Communist say that nobody should study the conduct of that maniac because he is dead.

But they do object to studying White. Why? Because he was an American Communist. Their line is to protect, to defend the American Communist even if he is established as having been a spy.

This distortion of logic is difficult to understand, particularly when some who follow it are not how and never have been Communists.

I lunched with an upright, decent American recently who has never been even remotely associated with Communism, but at the mere mention of Joe McCarthy, he almost jumped.

THIS MAN had been brainwashed by the anti-anti-Communist line. He could not give me a name, a case, a fact to justify his dislike for McCarthy.

He had accepted the smear technique which the anti-anti-Communist spread against a senator engaged in exposing the very espionage which this man detests.

While he wants the spies exposed, he does not want it done by McCarthy nor does he like Communists identified as Communists, nor does he want liberals marked as anti-anti-Communist, even when they act as defenders for spies.

This illogical position is a product of a mental block which makes it difficult for some liberal-minded persons to recognize that we are no longer dealing with academic Marxism but with one of the broadest and most successful imperialistic designs, which uses espionage not only as a method of obtaining military intelligence but as a weapon of war to destroy other nations internally.

It is the Trojan horse technique. (Kink Features Syndicate)

4-H Club News

Projects for next year were discussed when the Pleasant Cloverette 4-H Club met recently at the home of Miss Rosemary Mautz, advisor. Members received their county fair premium money and also discussed the state recreation award they received for 1953.

Twenty-three new members were initiated into the Wyandot County Junior Leadership Club Thursday night when the club met at the assembly room of the courthouse. Ruth Binau led the group in singing. Junior Leadership attendance pins were presented to Mary Brodman, Eileen Corfman, Nancy Corfman, Mary Jane Koehler, Clair Shane and Sue Smith.

Members planned a Christmas gift exchange at the December meeting. The recreation committee, Mary Jane Koehler, chairman, conducted several games and refreshments were served.

Census taking in ancient times often was followed by conscription or high taxes and the process often was bitterly resisted.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The allegedly untouchable and untampered files of the U. S. were looted by friends of Harry Dexter White on the suspect's background were put on a revenge list.

For years, those who believed they were talking in strictest confidence to trusted Treasury agents, were persecuted by these friends of White and Gregory Silvermaster.

MOST OF THOSE who opened up to the Secret Service, believing it their duty to prevent further infiltration of sensitive government departments, were federal employees.

Since the Communist apparatus had its people in high places in many of the departments employing those who had cooperated with the Secret Service — it was easy for the Reds to harass them, prevent promotions, delay transfers and, finally, even dump some of them out of government.

Some of the anti-Communists who were persecuted by the pro-Soviet apparatus worked in and around the government's labor sections. They were living evidence of all this. We know that one file which disappeared from the Treasury Department's secret dossiers told the full story of a law professor at an eastern university who had great influence on those shaping the government's labor policies in the 30s.

RESULTS OF HIS collaboration with Communist circles are very much with us today and can be seen in the pro-Soviet crowd's control of labor in vital communications, metals, shipping, electronics and other strategic defense fields.

Events now shocking the nation are almost ancient history to many of the specialists at the CIO's recent 15th constitutional convention — specialists who, back in the 30s, fought the very men now being named as spies. We know then, for example, that the Communists would try to frame their opponents by turning them in as Communists.

At least one FBI report clearing a Washington anti-Communist newsman was deliberately perverted by a typist in the Justice Department, making it seem that the FBI had condemned instead of cleared him.

The anti-Communist labor crowd fought this fight right through to 1945.

THEY WARNED the head of the old National Labor Relations Board (long before Paul Herzog, who is not in any way involved in this).

They warned the most highly placed generals on a line from Washington to Berlin. But no one paid any attention.

A re-examination of the case of spy George Wheeler, who operated in many government labor offices from Washington to London to Berlin, will begin to show the hand of the man I call Mr. X, who deliberately deceived Harry Truman.

The ex-President placed great confidence in Mr. X, who constantly derided all FBI reports and recommendations as "Red baiting." With White House prestige behind him, Mr. X even infiltrated Gen. Clay's staff in occupied Germany.

George Wheeler, who held high policy posts in Washington and Europe, now is the leading anti-U.S. propaganda expert in Sovietized Eastern Europe.

Wheeler renounced his American citizenship two years ago. Yet his connections with some White House circles were most intimate.

THIS CROWD did a real business in secret documents and photographs. And most of this stuff filched from the government was copied and hidden in the old home of Gregory Silvermaster. Those who bought the home from the Silvermasters keep discovering secret compartments, sliding panels and hidden nooks all over the place.

One fellow in this crowd spent months of his time floating around strategic areas in the Mid-West and Alaska — just taking pictures.

Many labor people, believing that FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover abandoned his political neutrality by testifying in the White case, plan to attack him for the first time in many years.

Reports here are that when Democratic National Chairman Steve Mitchell resigns next year, the CIO will be consulted before a new party leader is selected.

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell very emphatically said that talk of a split in the President's cabinet — between himself and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks is "a lot of hokum."

ONE OF THE MOST significant statements of the CIO convention was lost because it was made late one day — at a press conference held in the Hotel Statler by David McDonald, president of the CIO Steelworkers, and Ben Fairless, head of U.S. Steel.

Asked just why he was making an unprecedented tour of the steel plants with Fairless, McDonald said he wanted to make the "whole principle" of "Democratic capitalism and industrial democracy" work.

"We're trying to make this system go in contrast to socialistic and communistic systems elsewhere," he said.

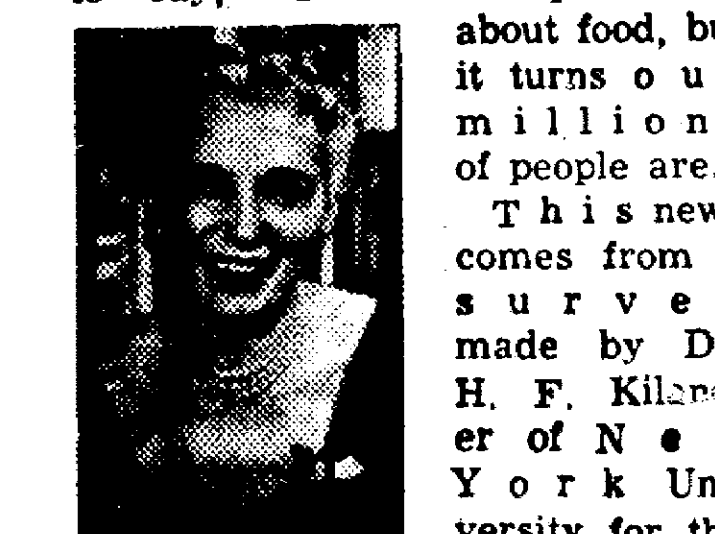

McDonald, characteristically, apparently condemned the socialists as well as the communists, as he does frequently.

Superstitions

By Laura Hobson

"I'm not superstitious but—" we've all used that opening gambit and just to vary it, I'm going to say, "I'm not superstitious about food, but it turns out millions of people are."

HOBSON This news comes from a survey made by Dr. H. F. Kilander of New York University for the American Health Association and a few of the most popular superstitions are that (1) fish is a brain food; (2) water is fattening; (3) alcohol is a stimulant, not a narcotic or depressant; and (4) a slab of raw meat will reduce a shiner.

THESE DIETARY quirks got printed but some private information from Prof. Kilander may round out the picture for you interested readers, if any.

Millions of us won't eat milk and cucumbers in the same meal, for instance, or ice cream and lemonade. "Pure myth," says Prof. Kilander, "though if I order grapefruit and milk in a restaurant the waitress looks horrified."

It's true that acid will curdle milk, he explains, but the hydrochloric acid in your stomach curdles it anyway, the instant it lands, so what's the difference?

Putting eggs in your beer or ordering lots of raw oysters is another myth — there are thousands of similar ones about increasing strength and virility through what you eat.

THEN THERE'S the "fear" ideas connected with food: if you have a cheese rabbit late at night, you're bound to have a nightmare. Says the professor, "No particular food brings on nightmares unless you're psychologically set" for them whenever you indulge in that dish.

As for the heavy meal before bedtime causing insomnia — nothing to that either. Just watch the folk who devoutly believe it and who yawn like mad or take a snooze right after a heavy lunch or dinner.

Along with these little eating superstitions, there's a host of others we carry around in our heads as we knock wood and circle ladders and avoid black cats.

A STRAWBERRY mark on your skin does not mean mommy was scared by a strawberry or anything else before you were born.

Birthmarks may be inherited or congenital, but they're not due to any prenatal influence, since there is "simply no way for a mother's experiences to register on an embryo."

She may listen to beautiful music and still have a child who's tone deaf; she may stare at scenery and sunsets every afternoon and still not mother a famous landscape painter; she may learn ten new words daily in French or Spanish and still not have a new linguist in the family.

I'M HAPPY that none of the above little superstitions has ever bothered me. But, of course, when it comes to luck at cards, that's different.

I do want to "cut for the lucky seats at bridge." And though I laugh at her, I have an uneasy feeling about a woman I know who swears she always loses unless she sits with her back to Madison Avenue.

Which is undoubtedly what led me to stardom a bunch of strangers at a dude ranch in Wyoming one summer when I looked around the card table and asked, "which way is New York?"

MEXICAN STAR ILL LOS ANGELES (U)—Mexican film star Jorge Negrete is reported in fairly good condition today after a possible liver ailment attack. He was hospitalized yesterday.

'Would Lessen Tension'

Pravda Calls for Better Russian-U.S. Relations

MOSCOW (U)—An unusual article in Pravda today said it was fully obvious that an improvement in Soviet-American relations was vital to the interests of both countries and that their cooperation would be "the paramount factor in lessening international tension."

The article, which covered nearly half the Communist party newspaper's foreign news page, possibly was of considerable significance.

Yet the author, D. D. Kraminov, one of Pravda's prominent correspondents who has covered United Nations sessions, set forth no proposals on how American-Soviet relations might be bettered except to claim that the United States should change its course.

The writer largely devoted his space to accusing President Eisenhower and other American leaders of making anti-Soviet attacks and conducting anti-Soviet campaigns.

"The history of relations between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. shows that always when these countries have gone together and when friendly relations existed between them it served the interests of both peoples, served the cause of the struggle against the forces of war and destruction and served the cause of peace and progress," Kraminov wrote.

"And the opposite has been true when the United States conducted an unfriendly policy toward the Soviet Union. Then it brought nothing but harm to the American people and was used by the forces of war and internal reaction against the interests of peace and the security of the peoples."

O'Neill Rules on Fire, Police Pension Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill ruled today police and firemen's pension funds are eligible to receive state subsidies regardless of when they were organized if they meet required conditions.

One of the conditions requires a municipality to levy three-tenths of a mill tax on all real and personal property within its boundaries for each fund.

The opinion went to State Auditor James A. Rhodes. He had questioned the legality of paying subsidies to pension funds established after Dec. 31, 1947, the year the Legislature authorized subsidies.

Oregon Facing Flood Threat

Streams Still Rising After Continued Rains

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—More rain is expected in Western Oregon today where rising streams already have isolated a number of communities.

There were continuing reports from southern Oregon of hardship and damage due to floods and unusually heavy rains.

The southern Oregon Coquille Valley region was hardest hit by the rising waters. Roads to Coquille, Myrtle Point, Powers and Bandon were covered with water, isolating the communities. A number of farm areas also have been cut off.

Residents were apparently not in immediate danger but relief agencies were standing by to evacuate them if necessary.

The Willamette River in northwestern Oregon also was flooding, but only minor damage was expected.

Judge Looks at Man's Hands, Suspends Fine

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Claude All, 42, was haled before City Judge Andrew Doyle on charges of drunkenness, vagrancy and loitering.

But All protested he was no vagrant. He worked for his living chopping cordwood, he said, and held out his hands to the judge.

The judge marveled at the horny, calloused hands and suspended the $35 fine, saying:

"Don't see many hands like those any more."

Talks Continue In Plane Strike

Fail on Agreement At North American Co.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—North American officials and union representatives arranged another meeting this afternoon after their joint session yesterday failed to produce any agreements leading to settlement of a four week strike.

Some 33,000 CIO United Auto Workers left their jobs at North American plants in three states Oct. 23 after the company refused to meet their demands for a 20-cent hourly wage increase.

The company offered a four percent increase from prevailing wages ranging from $1.42 to $2.32 hourly.

Further violence at the home of a non-union employee, Mrs. Margie Lowry, 28, brought new investigations by sheriff's deputies yesterday.

Mrs. Lowry reported two shotgun blasts were fired through the garage door at her Reseda home, and rocks were thrown through a den window, spraying her sleeping 4-year-old son John with broken glass.

Earlier her husband reported stain spilled on the exterior of the house, windows broken by rocks and the rear window of his car smashed by a hurled object.

Former Marion Man Wins Prize for Water Color

Bryans' Picture Scores In Washington, D.C., Art Contest

A former Marion resident, John A. Bryans of Arlington, Va., won his first art award when his work took first place in the water-color in the 16th Annual Metropolitan State Art Contest in Washington, D.C.

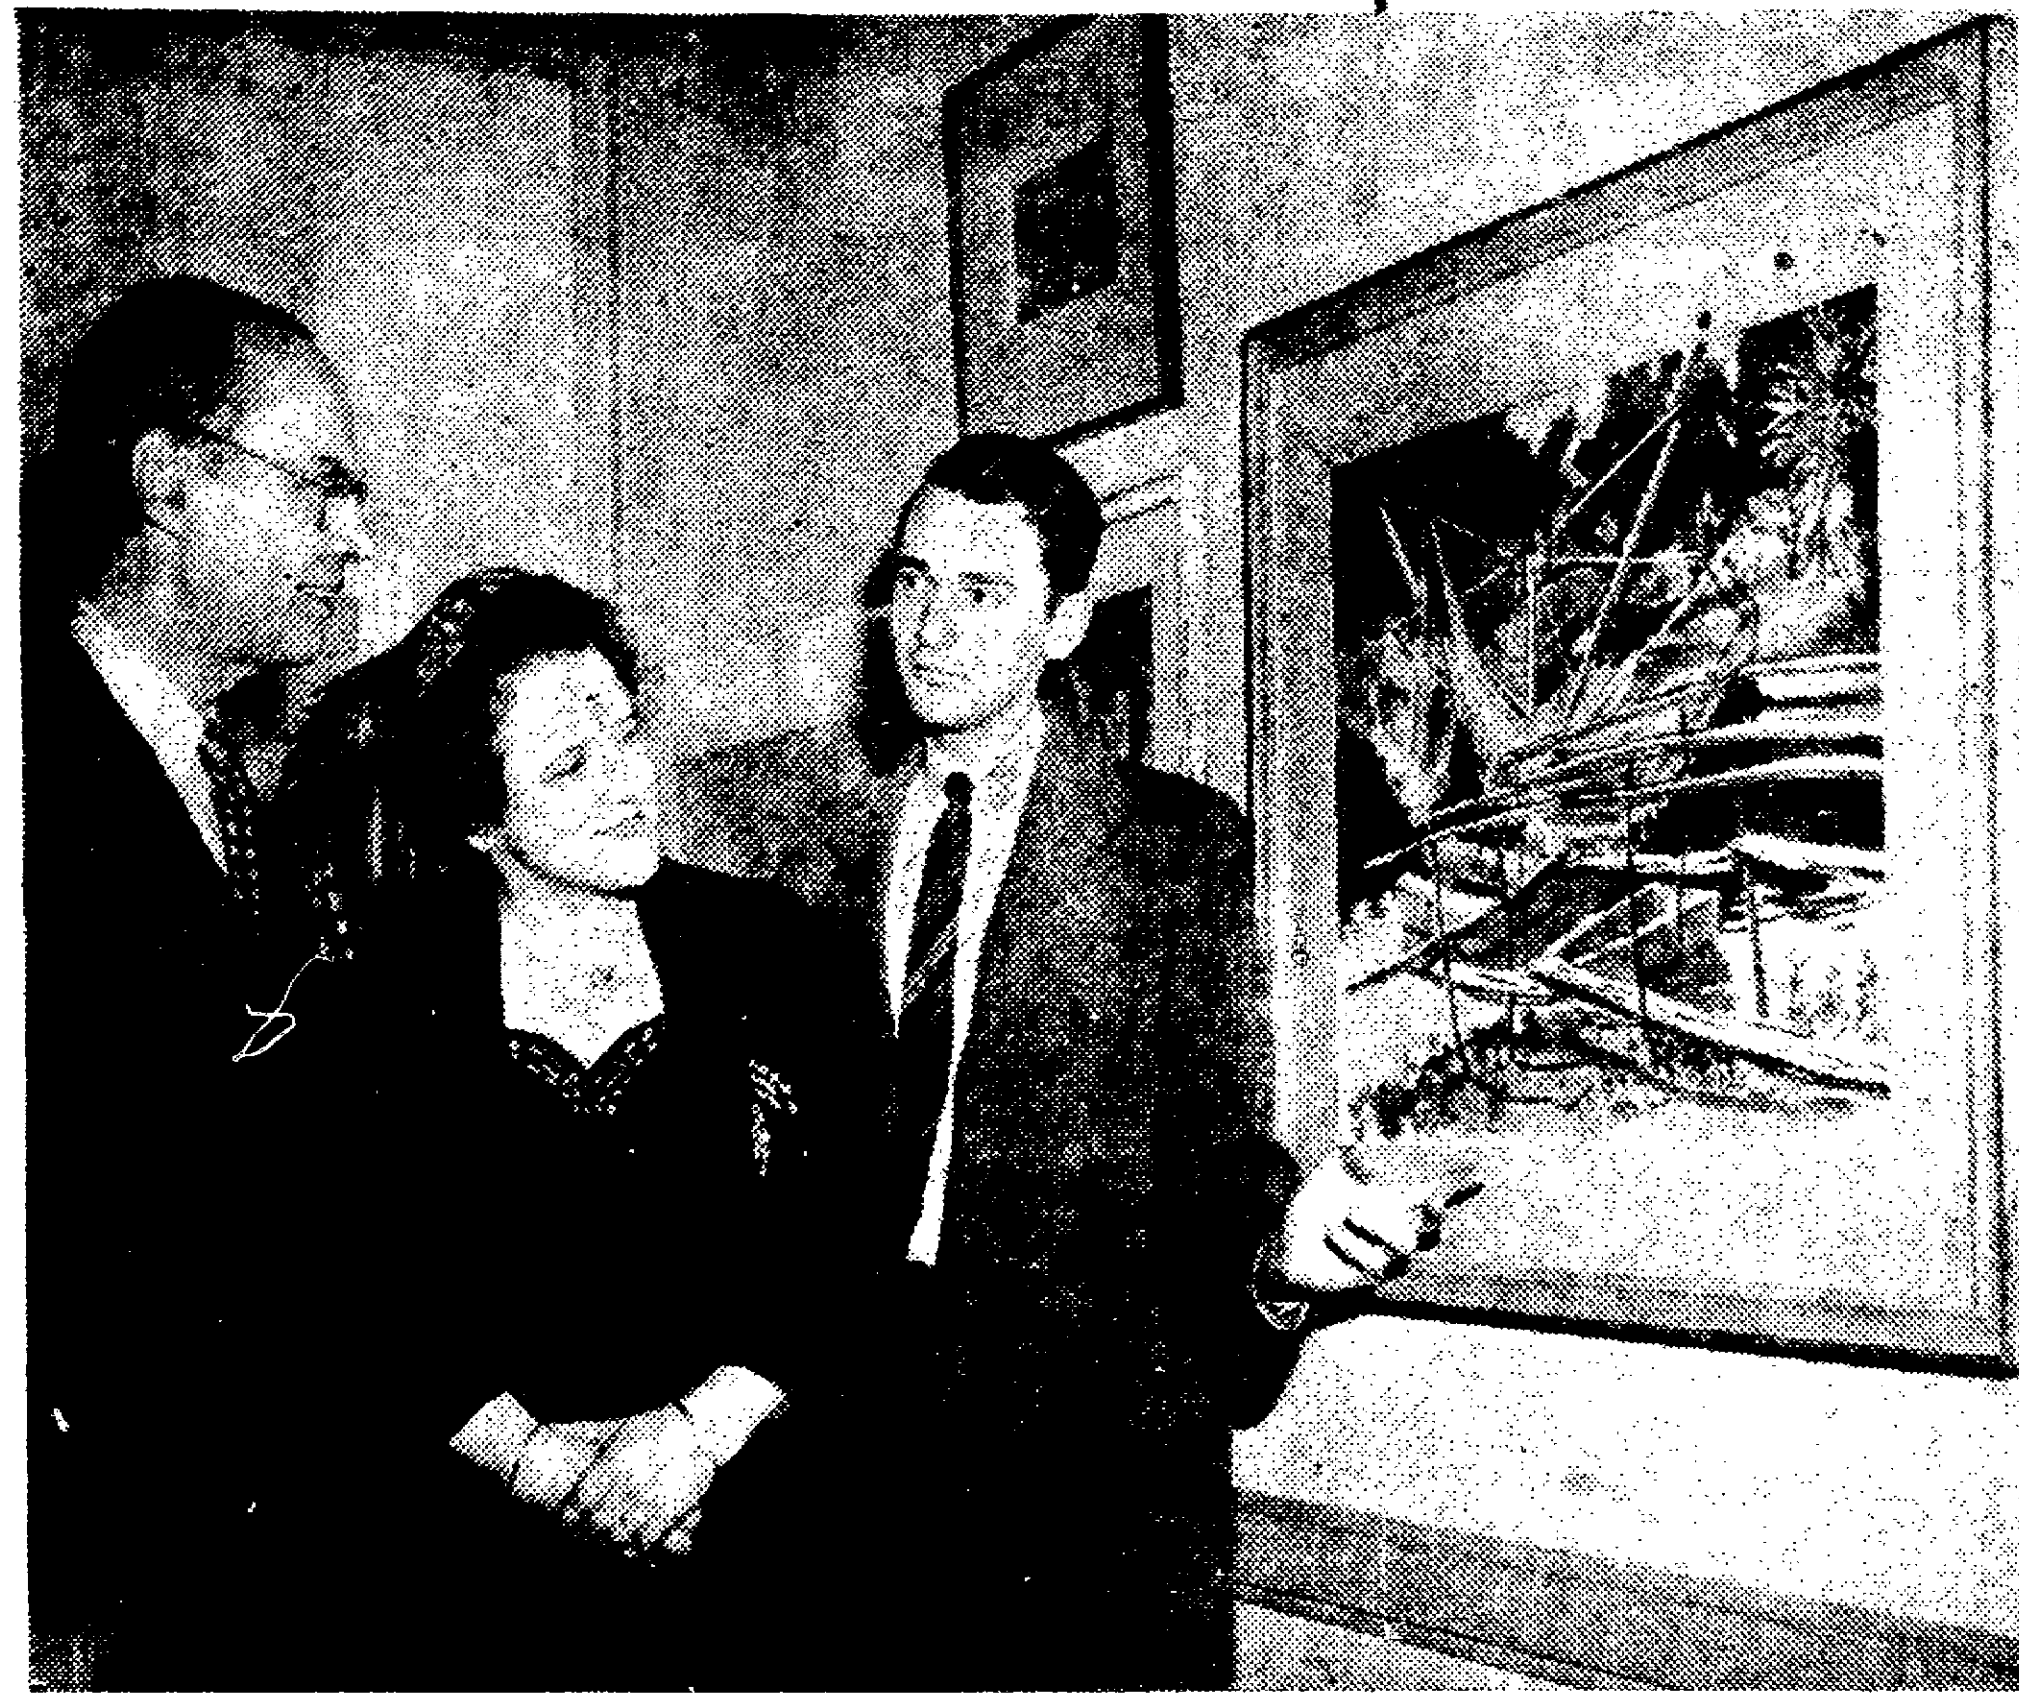

His winning work was included in an exhibit opening in the National Museum along with some 350 works by artists of the metropolitan area. The exhibit was held in connection with American Art Week and was sponsored by the District Chapter of the American Artists Professional League and the Entre Nous Club.

MR. BRYANS WON the Washington Evening Star award of $100 for his water color, "Nets Drying," showing fishing boats with nets suspended. He painted it as a scene he found appealing at Sarasota, Fla. in 1951.

The former Marion man specializes in water color and landscapes. He does most of his work in the evenings after work and on week ends. One of his ambitions is to go to Europe to study.

His previous study has been at the Ringling School of Art at Sarasota; with Jerry Farnsworth, the portrait painter; and at the Burnsville (N. C.) Painting Classes, where his teachers were Frank S. Herring and Edward Shorter.

MR. BRYANS HAD a one-man show in September last year at the New Georgetown Gallery. He will come to Ohio in January where he will have a show at the Alliance

JOHN A. BRYANS, right, of Arlington, Va., formerly of Marion, winner of the $100 Washington Evening Star award for water color in the 16th Annual Metropolitan State Art Contest, discusses his winning work with Allyn Cox, national president of the American Artists Professional League and Mrs. Lois White Billinger, national director of American Art Week. His painting is "Nets Drying."

Art League in Alliance, and in April will go to New York for a show at the Hudson Park Branch Library.

A native of Marion, he is the son of Mrs. Frances Bryans of 4207 North Twenty-third St., Arlington.

He has been painting almost since he was old enough to hold a brush. A graduate of Harding High School, he designed the stage settings for his class play, "Summer at the Sea Gull," written by Miss Lucile Foreman, of the Harding staff. A number of Marion residents are owners of pictures done by Mr. Bryans.

He worked as a reporter on The Marion Star from 1942 until 1945 when he entered the U. S. Air Force. During his 18 months' service he saw duty in Hawaii. He has made his home in the Washington area for the past three years and is an employee of the Navy Bureau of Medicine and Surgery.

Revival at Calvary Church Under Way

Revival meetings at Calvary EUB Church began Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy MacMurray of Union City, Pa., featured as the musical evangelists. The pastor, Rev. Clyde R. Wendell, is the preacher for the services.

The MacMurrays presented special music on several instruments, and tonight, Mr. MacMurray will play a cornet arrangement of "The Holy City" and Life's Railway to Heaven will be played on the "altonium." For a special program Saturday night, the choir has been asked to practice tonight and Wednesday and Friday nights to assist the MacMurrays in presentation of the parable of the "Ninety and Nine."

Rev. Wendell in his opening message preached on prayer in relation to revival. He said in part that "Ordinary prayer power is not sufficient during the season of soul winning. It is uphill business, for we are not fighting an ordinary foe. Prayer is the medium through which God's spiritual power moves. Nothing can be substituted for it. Prayer in evangelism must be directed toward ourselves. When we are willing to come to the brazen altar of sacrifice, then we can go on to the golden altar of prayer and God will pour out his power upon us. Prayer must be directed also toward the church. Too often we pass the burden of soul winning over the pew to the pulpit. The sign of a revival is not in a building crowded with people, but in a meeting with people, but in a meeting when God's saints meet in prayer for lost souls."

In 1952 the United States produced about 55 per cent of the oil in the free world. The United States has admitted more than 40 million aliens since the end of the Revolution.

Wyandot County 1953 Crop Drive Tops $4,000 Mark

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — With four townships yet to complete their work, Wyandot County's 1953 CROP campaign report Sunday showed that nine of the completed townships had subscribed over $4,000, exceeding their $3,000 goal.

The meeting was held at the Salem EUB Church, east of here, on Sunday night when county chairman, Rev. E. T. Wonder, presided. Speaker was Ohio State Director of CROP, Rev. Clyde N. Rogers of the Ohio Council of Churches. He recently inspected relief work being done in Germany and Iran.

He showed colored pictures of the 30,000 chicks sent to Iran on June 17 by Ohio 4-H clubs, juvenile Granges, vacation Bible schools and weekday schools of religion, and pictures of the desperate housing conditions among refugees in Germany where 600 to 1,500 persons a day come from behind the Iron Curtain.

Rogers assured the Wyandot Countians that the food does get to the hungry people and is not used in the black markets. "We can be proud of the workers who are serving us in the needy areas of the world," he said.

Lecture-Recital Concert Given by OWU Musicians

Delaware musicians in concert here Monday night were greeted by an audience of Lecture-Recital Club members, patronesses, and guests which filled the ballroom of Hotel Harding.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hladky, cello and flute duo, and Prof. Tilden Wells, accompanist, were heard in solo numbers and a trio presentation. They are from the music faculty of Ohio Wesleyan University. Local musicians praised the musicianship of the guest performers as the "finest perfection given at such a program in years." This was the second patroness program of the Lecture-Recital Club for the season.

Mrs. John F. Lacey introduced the guest trio. She is a member of the Lecture-Recital Club program committee which is headed by Mrs. J. Paul Goebel and Mrs. George Lane and includes Mrs. Howard Hinamon and Mrs. Charles Campbell.

Present also from Ohio Wesleyan was Steve Lacey, son of Mrs. Lacey, who is a cello pupil of Mr. Hladky. He is a former member of the Lecture-Recital Club Youth Group.

Final program of the patroness series will be in March.

VENEZUELA'S 'AUTOPISTA'

ONE OF THE most heralded superhighways in the world—Venezuela's "Autopista"—will be ready for its official opening before the end of 1953. This $60 million highway connects the seaport of La Guaira with the mountain capital of Caracas. The ten-mile route, with its 36 curves, replaces the old 19-mile road that had 365 turns. Now that the roadbed has been completed by the Ministry of Public Works and is being surfaced, the Autopista stands out clearly as it makes its way through the rugged Andean foothills. The three majestic concrete arch bridges are the largest in the western hemisphere. They are complete except for final paving. The two tunnels are ready except for final installations in the air purifying systems. Officials say the highway will pay for itself in 20 years.

The superhighway is 70 feet wide and some 200 feet above the floor of the valley below.

Massillon Wins Sixth Straight Ohio Championship

Mather's Machine Equals Record Set by Paul Brown

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's Massillon again!
Coach Chuck Mather's mighty Tigers today won Ohio's high school football championship for the sixth straight year, matching the record set at the same school from 1935 through 1940 by Paul E. Brown.
The Stark County powerhouse was given the championship by 36 of the state's sports editors in the final Associated Press poll of the year, 20 picking the Tigers for the top spot as they piled up 317 points against second-place Portsmouth's 240.
Mather, in his six years at the Tiger helm, has won 57 of 60 games, the last 23 in a row. Brown, who leaped from Massillon to Ohio State to Great Lakes to the Cleveland Browns—where his pros now have a nine-game winning streak—won 58, lost one and tied one in his last six seasons at Massillon.
The Tigers, atop the poll all season, took no chances as they met their ancient rival, Canton McKinley, Saturday.
On their first four plays from scrimmage, the Tigers scored three touchdowns. They needed 6 plays to get the fourth, 2 for the fifth and 1 for the sixth.
Junior quarterback Rich Crescenze threw 3 passes in the first half, and all went for touchdowns, covering 44, 51 and 73 yards. That's 6 touchdowns in 13 plays.
Massillon, ahead 42-7 at the half, scored only once in the last two quarters as Mather used his senior substitutes. The final was 48-7, giving Massillon 10 straight, with 399 points against 55.
Two of last week's top 10 were defeated by unexpected scores as the final standings were jumbled. Cleveland Benedictine, in eighth place, was swamped 40-14 by Cleveland Rhodes and dropped among the also-rans, while third place Cincinnati Purcell was defeated 33-0 by fifth-place Dayton Chaminade.
That feat boosted Chaminade into third place, dropped Purcell to eighth. Rhodes, with only a 12-12 tie with Lorain marring its 10-game record, moved into a ninth-place tie with Tom Watson's Urbana nine-game winners, also newcomers to the select group.
Massillon has clung to the state title through six fantastic years despite a 1948 loss to Alliance, another to Mansfield in 1949, and to Warren in 1951. The Tigers won 10 straight in 1950, 1952 and 1953.

Brown, over his championship stretch, was beaten 7-0 by New Castle, Pa., in 1937, and tied 6-6 by Mansfield the same year, but won the other 58. In the six years Brown outscored the opposition 2,393 to 174. Mather had a 2,227 to 432 advantage in six seasons.
Since Brown started the fabulous string in 1935, the Massillon team, under six different coaches, has won 167 games, lost 14 and tied nine while outscoring the foe, 6,142 to 1,063.

Loose ends: Dayton Chaminade's 33-0 win over Purcell marked the Cincinnati Public's worst defeat since Hamilton Public won 35-0 in 1941, and the first time in 104 games Purcell was shut out—dating back to 1942.

Hamilton, which won only two of 10 last year, is on the way back. The Big Blue lost only to once-beaten Purcell and Chaminade, and unbeaten Portsmouth, while winning seven.

New Philadelphia wondered last week if its record of allowing no points in its first eight games was the best ever. John D. Kirker of the Steubenville Herald-Star announces proudly that city's Big Red held 17 straight opponents scoreless in the 1929-51 era.

Here's how the newspaper and radio sports editors rated the teams in the season's final poll. (Points on 10-9-8-etc basis.)

Teams	First Points	Points
Massillon	20	317
Portsmouth	4	240
Dayton Chaminade	6	185
New Philadelphia	0	116
Warren	1	107
Fremont Ross	0	58
Toledo DeWitt	2	58

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Ten days ago during lunch with Tony Hemmerling, general manager of the Marion Barons, he promised a change in the fortunes of the local hockey club very shortly.

That change came even sooner than Tony expected. Two days later Tony Poeta arrived from the Cleveland Barons to add speed and strength to the Barons' forward wall. He was named right-winger on the front line with Hal Jones and Ken Schultz.

A short time later, Phil Vitale arrived to bolster a ragged Marion defense. He, along with Coach Ott Heller, are defensemen behind the forward wall of Wimpy Jones, Jerry Prince and Gordie Vejprava.

Then came Dutch Del Monte, who may not remain here long. Dutch was sent to the Marion club from Cleveland but is subject to immediate recall by the big city Barons. He has fitted into the front line with Joe Ingoldby and Murray Wilkie.

With the addition of the three newcomers, the Barons launched an impressive winning streak to notch five wins in six games. The climax of that streak came Sunday before the second largest crowd of the season and was a 2-1 win over the league-leading Cincinnati Mohawks.

During the Sunday game, Hemmerling sat in the pressbox with a satisfied "I told you so" smile on his face.
Heller's charges meet Grand Rapids here Wednesday night in a Thanksgiving eve battle. A win for the Barons would lift them into fourth place in the International Hockey League standings.

DISAPPOINTED BUCKEYES.
Several Marion grid fans returned to Marion after the Saturday clash at Ann Arbor between Ohio State and Michigan. All were disappointed but some were more vociferous than others.
One male fan referring to the stadium remarked, "They didn't

ALL-WESTERN CONFERENCE SELECTIONS FOR 1953. Here are the All-Western Conference football team selections for 1953 by coaches in cooperation with the Associated Press. Irish Replaced By Maryland As Top Power

NEW YORK (AP)—Maryland was undisputed master of college football for the first time this season today after pushing Notre Dame off the top rung.
The Terps, the only undefeated, untied major team in the country, took over first place in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscaster in emphatic fashion, polling 2,347 votes to 2,009 for second-place-Notre Dame.
The Irish had been No. 1 in the AP's preseason poll and in all subsequent AP polls until they were held to a 14-14 tie by Iowa Saturday.

Maryland, which finished its 10-game season by routing Alabama 21-0, picked up 154 first-place votes of the 254 ballots cast. The points are awarded on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second, and so on.

Notre dame, which now shows a 7-0-1 record, gained 47 first-place votes. The Irish still must play Southern California and Southern Methodist.

- The top 10 (first-place votes in parentheses):
1. Maryland (154) 2,347
 2. Notre Dame (47) 2,009
 3. Michigan State (8) 1,797
 4. Oklahoma (9) 1,553

Three Buckeye League Schools To Make Decision Next Month

Fate of the Buckeye League, 1954. The withdrawals include all league activities as well as athletics.

A spokesman for the league reported, "These withdrawals have been made because of apparent athletic inequalities and not because of any ill feelings among the respective members."

Representatives of all sports, school principals, superintendents and other categories of league actions, were represented at the meeting. The league as it is now constituted will operate until next June 1. The three teams remaining, Harding, Findlay and Fremont Ross, will meet before that date to come to an agreement on the future status of the circuit. That meeting will be held Dec. 9 at Findlay. The three school principals, superintendents and athletic directors will attend.

It was decided at last night's meeting that contracts involving the three remaining schools and the three which dropped withdrew, Tiffin Columbian, Fostoria and Bowling Green, will be honored or terminated by mutual agreement of the involved schools.

The league accepted the resignations of the three withdrawing members' with regret as of June 1.

Marciano Impresses

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, appearing in a boxing exhibition for the first time in his career, gave fans at the Oakland Auditorium a treat last night by punching two sparring partners around as if for keeps.
Marciano flattened Bob Golden of Denver in the second round, then pummeled Toxie Hall of Chicago for two rounds. He received a fine ovation from the crowd of some 1,500.

Play Begins Wednesday

Presidents Ready for Cage Opener With Bexley Team

Harding High School opens its 1953-54 basketball slate Wednesday night against Bexley. It will be the first game played in the new Harding gymnasium.

It will also mark the high school debut of Coach Jim Lawler. He moved into the Harding job last spring when Ken Somerlot was moved up to become athletic coordinator. George Keel, former assistant coach at Harding, was named to the post but he resigned to accept a coaching assignment at Kenton High School. Lawler then moved up from Vernon Junior High School where he had turned out championship squads in basketball and football.

Lawler will start the season with two of his varsity players on the sidelines. Joe Snouffer will be out of action for at least two weeks with a torn tendon in the shoulder. Doug Bibler is the other question mark. He has been slowed by a recurrence of a football shoulder injury and may be forced to miss the opener.

Lawler will probably go with Dave Schaefer, 6-2, at center and Max Kaelber, 6-0, and Donnie Smith, 5-7, at forwards. Ron Conroy, 5-8½, and Marvin McFann, 6-0, will fill the guard slots.

The Prexies will operate with a double pivot setup and will depend on a fast breaking attack. Lawler reported. He added he has installed a man-to-man defensive setup.

Others dressing for varsity action Wednesday will be Bob Hamor, Larry Geissler, Gene Armstrong, Phil Carroll, Fred Price and Chet King.

Lawler's reserve squad is taller than the starting varsity crew and may cause several of the experienced men to hustle to keep their jobs. Frank D'Eramo and Ed Rudolph both stand 6-4 while Lowell McFann reaches 6-3, and Jones, Miami LT Radel, Kent St. Zurburg, Miami LG Barcelona, Toledo Anderson, Ohio U. RH Mariano, Kent State Cullom, Kent St. FB Jackson, Ohio U.

Lowell Carlisle and Ted Bibler are both 6-2. Dave Lockwood is a flat 6-0.

A brief dedication program has been scheduled to mark the opening of the new gymnasium.

Ohio, Miami Head All-League Voting

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Ohio University won five berths and Miami four today on the Mid-American Conference football team picked by the coaches.

Dr. David E. Steele, loop commissioner, announced 12 players were named to the first team as two quarterbacks were selected because of a tie vote. Ohio U. won the league championship, with Miami second.

Cassady Honored

Borton, Brubaker To Lead 1954 Ohio State Gridders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ace Passer John Borton of Alliance and Dick Brubaker of Shaker Heights, were named co-captains of the 1954 Ohio State football team last night at the Bucks' annual appreciation dinner.

Halfback Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, the red-haired sophomore flash who formerly starred for Columbus Central High School, carried off two major awards of the evening.

Cassady was awarded the Ohio State Journal Quarterback Club Trophy as the sophomore who showed the most improvement during the season. He also won a Sigma Alpha Epsilon trophy for the star player of the homecoming game victory over Northwestern.

The 1953 team finished with a 6-3 record and a 20-0 loss to Michigan Saturday.

Coach Woody Hayes told the gathering he would be back next year and lashed out once again at the abolishment of the two-division system. He said the players had voted 40-2 in favor of a return to the former system.

He termed the comeback ability of the Buckeyes the most gratifying thing about the past season. OSU President Howard L. Bevis commented, "There's going to be another day. We're proud of this football team and we have a university of which they can be proud."

The following players were awarded varsity letters:

John Auer, Jack Augenstein,

Twenty-three freshmen were given freshman numerals and sweaters, while numerals went to six other frosh players.

4-H Congress Delegate Will Leave on Saturday

Loren Fulton of Caledonia, Marion County's delegate to the 1953 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, will leave with 25 other delegates from Ohio Saturday.

The group will board a special coach in Columbus and arrive in time to attend all sessions of the Congress which is held from Nov. 29 through Dec. 3.

Fulton won the right to attend as a delegate through his work this summer in dairy efficiency.

Other delegates from the Marion area are Mary Jo Young of Plain City in Union County, who won the trip for activity in food preparation; Phyllis Schott of Worthington, who won the prize in canning; Patricia Rose of Forest in Hardin County who took the award in safety speaking; and Sherman Nicol of Marysville who won in boys' demonstration.

Jay Hastings, Hardin County 4-H advisor, will be one of the chaperons on the trip.

Navy's Mascot Returns, Under Special Guard

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The Navy's goat, like the Army's mule, was under special guard today to prevent a repeat of his kidnapping as the Saturday clash between the two service academies drew near.

There were indications the order for Billy's return came from the Department of Defense or perhaps even the White House.

Bernard Baruch, elder statesman who was visiting West Point when Billy was unveiled there, carried a report of the affair to President Eisenhower in Washington.

There was another report that Army cadets who rallied outside the quarters of Brig. Gen. John H. (Mike) Michaelis, commandant of cadets at the Point, were told the order to return the goat had come "from higher than Mike" and "from outside the academy."

Billy was accompanied on the seven-hour truck ride back to the Naval Academy by Lt. Col. George W. McIntyre of Binghamton, N.Y., the adjutant at West Point, who admitted to feeling "like a bit of an ass."

Instead of returning Billy to his regular shed under Thompson Stadium, from which he was spirited sometime early Sunday, the mid-dies put the old goat up in a store-room of Bancroft Hall, their dormitory.

Midshipman Clyde L. Dean of Little Rock, Ark., brigade commander, said a "three section watch," a round-the-clock guard to landlubbers, was posted.

At West Point, the cadets also were reported to have doubled the guard on Poncho and Hannibal, their mule mascots, to prevent any Navy retaliation.

Officially, neither the Army nor the Navy admitted the goat was kidnapped.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, superintendent of the Naval Academy, said some lost cadets—the Army soccer team was here over the weekend—stopped to ask the goat directions and he led them back to West Point.

The Army, while "applauding the exploit resulting in the unofficial visit of Billy the 12th at West Point," declined comment in the "interest of continuing good inter-service and inter-academy relations."

GIRLS TAG TEAM, CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH LEADING BIG THANKSGIVING DAY MAT CARD

TURKEY may be "King" Thursday to a lot of wrestling fans but Les Fishbaugh has signed for his Thanksgiving card one of the biggest attractions ever seen at the Marion Armory starting at 8:30. It will be a double main event with four of the country's top girls taking part in a tag team match. JOYCE FORD and BARBARA BAKER team up against CORA COMBS and BONNIE WATSON.

A return championship between BILLY FOX and SCOTTIE WILLIAMS will highlight the other 2 out of 3 fall match. Williams won the tri-state gold belt from Fox about a month ago and Fox has been asking for a return match.

The opener also will be all star because it is between the Ohio State Colored Star, Ricky Waldo, and the Masked Marvel.

Prices, $1.90-$1.50, Kids 50 cents. Better call Markert & Lewis early for choice ringside seats to this "BIG" Attraction.

Shooting Stars, Barons Making Noises in IHL

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sixth place clubs seldom create any excitement in a nine-team loop, but they are today in the International Hockey League.

The Marion Barons and the Louisville Shooting Stars, tied for sixth, are in the midst of winning streaks. And Toledo, also in sixth with 16 points, has played five games without a victory.

The Barons' parent club, Cleveland of the American League, sent three players to Marion, winners in four of their last five games.

Frank Toyota, formerly of Johnstown, was added to the Stars, who will be after their fifth straight win Thursday night.

Marion's last victim was Cincinnati, pacing the IHL with 23 points, two full games ahead.

One of Cincinnati's clutch scorers is John Allen Smith who was attending Xavier University in Cincinnati while playing hockey. But he quit for the current semester to concentrate on his skating studies.

His homework won a tough battle last week against second-place Johnstown. The Jets, in three games, could win only against last-place Milwaukee.

Troy and Fort Wayne are tied for third, though neither accomplished much in last week's action. Troy split 1 and 1 and Fort Wayne won 1, lost 2 and tied 1. Grand Rapids, in fifth, also was a stand-off with 1-1-1.

IRISH CRITICIZED

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame caused the "sucker shift" to be outlawed last year and indications today were that the Irish were going to force the rulemakers to wipe "acting" off the books.

In the wake of Notre Dame's 14-14 tie with Iowa last Saturday, officials and coaches had plenty to say about their tactics of forcing the clock to be stopped with seconds remaining in both the first and second halves because of injuries.

If a player is hurt, the clock automatically is stopped. Frank Leahy's boys used this maneuver twice against Iowa, although the players who complained of the injuries seemed to suffer no ill-effects later.

Coach Lou Little of Columbia, chairman of the Coaches' Rules Committee, commented: "It's being done and has been done for years. Generally it doesn't pay off, but this time it did. I don't think Notre Dame should be criticized. We should change the rule to cover the situation, and if a new rule is impossible we should change the code of ethics."

"I don't think a referee has the right to decide if a player claiming injury is hurt or not. As the rule stands, Notre Dame was within its province in stopping the clock."

Both times the Irish stopped the clock through the injured player times out, they came back to score touchdowns to tie the score.

Kenneth I. (Tug) Wilson, commissioner of the Big Ten, echoed Little's sentiments regarding the referee, as did Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the powerful Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference.

"An official is not a doctor," said Wilson. "He has to take such matters in good faith. . . . A referee can do nothing but recognize an injured player whether the player actually is hurt or not."

Said Bushnell: "A referee may know he's being fooled, but he can't take a chance when a player claims he's hurt."

The New York Daily News contacted Michigan's Fritz Crisler, chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. rules body at Ann Arbor, Mich.

He declined to comment on the Notre Dame ethics but admitted that a loophole apparently existed and that the entire matter would be brought before the NCAA committee.
